THIS DAY WE HONOR OUR HEROES' MEMORY

Glendale Avenue Electric Line Will Cost $413,000; To Open Jan. 1

Our City comment & discussion by THOMAS D. WATSON

Lloyd George's Daughter is Great Booster For Southern California

IN A STATEMENT made on her arrival home, Miss Meegan, daughter of Lloyd George, said that "Every American I met from New York to Minneapolis seemed to be a California booster." That she also has joined the legion of boosters she proves by admittting that "The one real regret I have as a result of our trip to America is that I did not get to Southern California."

We who live in California, the land of perpetual sunshine, can appreciate this feeling for it is certainly a privilege to be able to live here.

* * *

It will not surprise us Californians any if the scientists who are now excavating in Santa Barbara for relics of ancient days find that the Garden of Eden was located in our midst for we ourselves admit that no place on this earth can compare with our own state.

* * *

This statement of Miss Lloyd-George ought to convince the skeptic of the certainty of the continued prosperity of Southern California for this boosting by people from coast to coast is bound to keep up the growth. Especially is this true when it is considered that the boosts are all justified and the people who move here through desire caused by this publicity turn into boosters themselves.

On November 11th, 1918 at eleven o'clock in the morning, French time, the armistice which meant the ending of the world war went into effect.

It was a day for rejoicing, not only among the allied nations but in the Central Powers as well, for both sides to the controversy, after four years of war were anxious for relief of any kind and the armistice was a welcome event for all.

* * *

While November 11th, 1918, was a day for rejoicing, the anniversaries are days which the nation has set aside to do reverence to those heroes who sacrificed their lives on the altar of freedom.

It is true there will be bands playing and marching hosts on the streets of our cities but the ex-soldiers who fought in the ranks will be giving more thought to the Armistice Day of 1918 than to its fifth anniverstry.

* * *

They will be thinking of their buddies, who, in time past touched shoulders while marching in the ranks but have now joined the silent throng of those who gave their lives that the world might be made safe for democracy. As the years go by the day will become dearer to us all and the entire nation as a unit will join in its observance.

ELECTRIFYING OF NEW LINE TO L. A. TO COST $413,000

P. L. Hatch Reiterates His Promise That Cars Will Run By January 1

The cost of electrifying the Union Pacific company's line on Glendale avenue and constructing the necessary substations, etc., will reach a grand total of $413,000, according to a report issued this morning by P. L. Hatch, general manager of the Glendale-Montrose Railway company.

Of this vast amount the Union Pacific company will spend $263,000 and the Glendale-Montrose Railway company will expend $150,000.

The Glendale-Montrose company's portionwill go for one freight locomotive, four passenger cars which will have a seating capacity of 55 each, the erection of an office building and power house, and the equipping of these buildings.

The Union Pacific's share of the grand total is being expended for the actual electrification of the line, which will cost $99,000 for the roadbed and $62,000 for the stringing of the wires, and $102,000 for the establishment of a freight switching yard and the construction of a modern freight depot at the corner of Glendale avenue and Lexington.

That everything will be ready to go on or before New Year's day was reiterated by Mr. Hatch.

The freight locomotive of the G. M. Company has arrived and the passenger cars are on the way. The substation and office building will be completed within 30 days and the installation of the machinery will be finished well before January 1.

The stretch of line that is being electrified is four miles long. The cross wires and trolley wires for the north two miles of this stretch are already in place, and the work of stretching the south two miles will be effected next Wednesday morning, the work being completed in the single day.

Through the joint pole committee agreemnt, all of the poles on Glendale avenue with the exception of those recently erected by the Union Pacific will be removed just as soon as arrangements can be made to do so. In other words, all of the companies maintaining poles on Glendale avenue, with the exception of the Union Pacific will remove them and will string their wires to the new poles. The companies using these poles, besides the Union Pacific, will be the Edison Electric, the city of Glendale, and two sets of cables of the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph company.

It is the stringing of these wires that is costing the Union Pacific company $62,000.

From Verdugo road at the south end of the line to Cerritos avenue the Union Pacific will rebuild and repair the tract, and the 60-pound rails will be maintained.

From Serritos avenue north through Glendale avenue to Lexington the present 60-pound rails will be removed and 90-pound rails will be laid and the track will be fully ballasted with crushed rock. The strip between the tracks along this stretch will be paved with national type pavement at the same time as the paving of Glendale avenue. It is expected that this work will be started within a short time. The latest type of electrically operated switches will be used in connection with this line. It is the laying of these rails that wil lcost the Union Pacific $99,000.

In order to kep pace with the electric and roadbed improvement and also to keep pace with the rapid industrial activity in North Glendale, the general improvements will include modern freight handling facilities and a modern freight depot. This will include the laying of 6000 feet of electrically operated station and steam trackage with extensive paving improvements. This work will be started shortly after the first of the year and all of it will be done at the site of the old depot.

The improvement of this site will make available an additional eight or ten industrial sites on the property that is owned by the Union Pacific company. To each of these will be a spur track and team approaches, which facilities at this time are totally lacking, it is claimed. The station and the switching facilities will cost $102,000.

The electrification of this line will open a rich industrial territory between the cemetery property and Delay drive, a distance of two miles.

The inception of this line started in Glendale—in the brains of the officers of the Glendale-Montrose company. They voiced their ideas to the officials of the Union Pacific, who readily saw the wisdom of their arguments and conclusions.

At the time things were ready to start work on the line, namely: September 1 A. G. McGuire, assistant chief engineer of the Union Pacific company was extremely busy with other matters and for this reason he assigned the work of electrifying Glendale avenue to his assistant, A. E. Berlin, who lives on Windsor road in Glendale.

Mr. Berlin, assisted by Manager P. L. Hatch of the G.-M. company, worked out all of the details of this line and has overseen the carrying out of all of these plans. To assist him he selected R. E. Mead, G. F. Souls and C. C. Clark, who have been on the job every minute. These two men worked night and day on this matter for weeks, every effort being centered on having the line in operation by January 1.

The work entailed in the construction of a line of this size is not realized by the average person. Since September 1, when the word was given to "go," there has not been an idle moment. All of the material was secured from the east, much of it had to be especially made, and all of it secured from far-away points.

The biggest thingfi in Glendale, January 1, will not be to go to the Tournament of Roses in Pasadena. It will be to watch the first electric car come "steaming" up Glendale avenue. Few people realize that the completion of this line will be one of the mile-stones" in the progress of this city.

San Fernando Road Still Boosts For Wider Street

The regular meeting of the Board of directors of the San Fernando Boulevard Improvement association was held Friday night at the place of business of the president, Lloyd Wilson, and was attended by about twenty members, all enthusiastic boosters for the widening and improvement of this highway.

Three petitions are now being circulated for signatures of abutting property owners, one for the territory between the Glendale city limits on the south and Los Leliz road, another from Los Feliz to State street, and a third from State street to the Burbank city limits.

No reports of progress on these petitions were made at this meeting except statements that the canvass of property owners is going forward.

The bad place in the road at the junction with Park avenue was discussed and the association will probably take action looking to its repair.

S. P. DEPOT WILL OPEN ABOUT JAN. 1

Reinforced Concrete Structure Costs $60,000 —303 Feet Long

Of unusual import to the southern end of the city is the construction of the new Southern Pacific depot at the foot of Cerritos avenue. Work on this structure was started about September 15, since which time rapid steps have been taken toward completing the building as soon as possible.

It was estimated yesterday by B. F. Baum, contractor, that the station will be completed and ready for use by the first of the year.

This new depot is 303 feet long, 24 feet wide and is costing $60,000. It is divided into freight and passenger departments. The passenger section comprises a large waiting room, 24x50 feet, as well as private and ticket offices and the like, while the freight portion, which is 22x60 feet in size, is all in one room.

The building is being made of reinforced concrete with Spanish Pitula exterior, there being considerable fancy stonework used in the structure. According to the contractor it will be one of the most attractive waiting stations in this section of the country.

LEST WE FORGET! LET'S LOOK BACK TO THE YEARS THAT WERE NOT SO GLAD

A Few Facts That Are Brought to Mind When We Recall the Burial Ceremonies Over the Unknown Dead—Who Died in Our Behalf

Lest We Forget!

Just a few "high lights" in the account of the burial of the "unknown American," who was laid to rest November 11, 1921, among Arlington's pale battalion of the dead:

"Never so grand and never so simple a ceremony has marked the burial of a man until this third Armistice day, when the President of the United States, two former Presidents, the Premier of a Kingdom, the premier of a sister republic, generals of great armies, admirals of titan fleets, and a host of the world's most brilliant men and women marched to Arlington and stood in the Memorial Amphitheatre to give tribute to the hero dead.

"This morning a regiment stood at salute as the caisson bearing the nameless one was lifted from the catafalque in the rotunda of the capitol and was borne down the steps of the east portico in the hands of medal men.

"This afternoon the western wall of the Blue Ridge mountains echoed back the thunder of Fort Myer's batteries that fired the national salute at the close of the ceremonies.

"From early morning until the first salve has been fired after the interment at Arlington minute-guns were fired from Fort Myer, ceasing only for the two minute silence at noon. In the evening the assemblage of dignitaries returned to the city that stretches out just across the Patomac, and the unknown soldier kept his lonely watch in the marble trench in Arlington — 'Golgotha of the Brave.'

"Thousands of visitors viewed the remains in the retunda of the Capitol. No one was denied admission. There were titled men from other shores and famous men from home; there were doughboys and doughboys' mothers; there were girls and little children; there were men of all estates. Hundreds took floral pieces.

"Around the catafalque, the same whereon there lay in state the bodies of our martyred presidents—Lincoln, Garfield, McKinley—a soldier, a sailor, a marine and a member of the National Guard. At 8 o'clock the pallbearers assembled in the retunda, while the corridors were strung with the members of the escort. At 8:30 o'clock the remains were borne by the body-bearers down the steps of the Capitol to the waiting caisson. The pall-bearers followed in a column of twos. The navy band played sacred music during the silent procession. The guard of honor and escort stood at attention.

"A muffled drum sounded and the band played the opening notes of a funeral march. Slowly at first, then at a quicker step, the cortege moved away from the capitol, down the hill to Pennsylvania avenue, past the peace monument toward the granite shaft of the Washington monument that rises above Potomac park.

"General John J. Pershing, commander of the armies and chief of staff, rode his jet-black horse at the head of the procession. Immediately behind him were his aides and staff and a line of distinguished generals and admirals, including Marshal Foch, generalissimo of the allied armies; first admiral of the British fleet, Admiral Beatty and General Dias, commander-in-chief of the Italian armies.

"At the head of the escort, next in line, was Brigadier-General Harry H. Bandholtz, commanding general of the District of Washington, with his staff. The escort was composed of a composite regiment of foot troops made up of a battalion of infantry from Fort Washington, a battalion of sailors and marines from Quantico, Va., and the Washington navy yard, a battalion of National Guard infantry, a battalion of field adtillery from Fort Myer, Va., and a squadron of cavalry also from Fort Myer. Closing the ranks of the escort was the clergy,headed by Bishop Charles H. Brent, major chaplain of U. S. A. and Bishop of the Episcopal church at Washington.

"Warren G. Harding, president of the United States, walked behind the remains, accompanied by a military aide. Vice-President Coolidge, Chief Justice of the United States Supreme Court William Howard Taft, and the associated justices, the members of the cabinet, Senator Cummins, president pro-temporare of the Senate; the United States senators, eight abreast; Speaker of the House Gillette, the members of the House and the medal-of-honor men following.

"Members of the American Legion and the Grand Army of the Republic, the Red Cross and numerous other societies marched in the wake of the American officials.

"Next in the great funeral pagent came the governors of the states, the allied and associated ambassadors and ministers, other ambassadors and ministers, the United States and foreign delegates to the limitation of armaments conference, distinguished foreign visitors, including the allied and associated military and navy attaches, the assistant secretaries of the executive departments, the chief of bureaus, and branches of the army and navy departments, and the commissioners of the District of Columbia.

"Every seat of the five thousand two hundred in the Memorial amphitheatre, having been assigned previously, were occupied. The president and Mrs. Harding were escorted to the apse, while the other members of the president's party were escorted to their seats in the amphitheatre.

"A great silence came over the assemblage for a moment and then Major-General James G. Harbord, master of ceremonies,signalled the marine band, and the impressible program began with sacred music. At the conclusion of the rendition, Bishop Brent delivered the invocation, which was heard with bowed head. 'My Country 'Tis of Thee" was then sung by those present. Following the president's address and a hymn by the band, the impressive ceremony of bestowing the medals of the unknown dead took place. President Harding advanced to the catafalque and placed upon the coffin the Congressional Medal of Honor and the Distinguished Service Cross.

"At the conclusion of the service the casket was lifted by the body-bearers and carried to the place prepared for it in the base of the sarcophagus, not far from where rests the body of Admiral Dewey. The last procession was made through an armed guard. The line drew outside the amphitheatre and was followed by the honorary pall-bearers, President Harding, his cabinet, foreign diplomats and, in orderly fashion, all who witnessed the ceremonies in the theatre.

"After the casket was placed at the entrance of the sarcophagus, the ceremonies for the dead were conducted by the chaplains—first in the Episcopal faith and then the Catholic faith and then in the Hebrew faith. The body was then entombed. Three salvos rang out from the firing battery. The din of the salute was hardly stilled when a buglar, standing close to the spot where the unknown was laid to rest, sounded taps. The salute of 21 guns was then fired by the battery at Fort Myer."

PAUL TALMAGE IS MUCH WANTED MAN

The police department has received word that Paul R. Talmage is wanted in Colorado, Nevada and Washington for forgery. He was arrested last week for taking orders for dishes in behalf of a firm which does not exist. A number of housewives from whom he accepted deposits of a dollar apiece, visited the city hall yesterday in an attempt to obtain their money back. The money was taken without a money-back clause in the contract, however.

Max Woods of Grand View Has Fine Birthday

Mrs. Charles G. Woods of 1610 Grand View avenue, assisted by her daughter, Mrs. Max Woods, entertained with a very enjoyable and unique birthday party on Wednesday night in celebration of Mr. Max Wood's anniversary. On returning home from the movies about 9:30 Mr. Woods found the home dark but, suddenly from the orange groves and shrubbery shadows glided into mass formation and headed by the two Davis sisters of war camp renown, playing "Hail! Hail! The Gang's All Here," the party advanced singing, to the Woods bungalow.

One of the clever stunts of the evening was a visit from the "bootleg fairy" impersonated by Stephen Huntington, wearing white pajamas, long bridal veil, crown with glit star and a wand, and smoking a cigar, who flitted into the livng room with two long rubber boots suspended from his shoulders. On behalf of the guests he presented Mr. Woods with numerous gifts appropriate to and suggestive of his occupation, that of realtor. Each gift bore an appropriate verse.

A dainty supper was served and the remainder of the evening was spent in dancing. Among those present were Dr. and Mrs. Lochlin of Los Angeles, Dr. and Mrs. Eames, Mr. and Mrs. S. W. Huntington, Wallace Huntington, Miss Ruth Boyd, Mr. and Mrs. Ward of Le Crescenta, Dr. and Mrs. Harbeck of Los Angeles, Miss Helen Houston, Mr. Kennedy, Miss Lorraine Davis, Miss Alberta Davis and Mrs. Ida Davis of Los Angeles, Kenneth Bush of Hollywood, Mrs. Louise Wilson and Sam Wilson of Los Angeles.

HI SOPHOMORES FINE IN FILM STAR IMPERSONATIONS

Stars of movie land will have to look to their laurels because so many understudies are coming. Last night the sophomores of Glendale High gave their big class party in the girls' gym—a masquerade at which a prize was offered for the person who best impersonated the movie celebrity he or she was supposed to represent.

It was the first masquerade party any of the classes have attempted and proved a lure that brought a larger attendance than was anticipated, including 25 or 30 parents. As the under classes are not permitted to dance, the sophomores had to content themselves with a grand march which would enable the judges to inspect impersonations and make-ups and determine to whom the prizes should be awarded. The first prize was given to Dewey McCourt for an impersonation of the comedian, "Snub Pollard." It consisted of two sticks of chewing gum.

Barbara Kranz, president of the class, was general director of the the grand march which terminated at the auditorium, where four pantomimes, supposed to represent movie scenes, were put on by the four classes. Two were from Buster Keaton's "Three Ages," viz: "The Stone Age," and "The Modern Age." Other scenes were from "Penrod and Sam," and "The Bad Man." The award for the best of these went to "The Modern Age," the prize, a covered wagon, being presented to Eugene Kille, who impersonated Buster Keaton.

Between acts were special stunts, one being "Movie Mad," put on by Clara Pauker as "Gloria Swanson," and Daisy Whitesel as "Libbie Cabrits." Shirley Preston and Thomas Buell put on "Spasms," and McCourt and Richardson a stunt labeled, "Miscellaneous."

Following the program, the guests returned to the girls' gym where refreshments consisting of a bottle of punch with two doughnuts over the neck was served from a covered wagon by the committeee of which Mary Barbara Taylor was chairman.

After that came a social hour for introductions and promotion of acquaintance among the pirates and nuns, cowboys, farmers and farmerettes, Spanish bull fighters and cavaliers, circus girls and fine ladies on thefloor, the party breaking up about 10 o'clock. Mr. Fullen was general chairman and Mrs. Fannie Sloan was assisting chairman on behalf of the faculty, but practically all the class teachers were present.

NEW TESTAMENT INSTALLMENTS RE-PUBLISHED

This is Done that New Subscribers May Have Story Complete

Today we publish all of the daily sections of the Goodspeed translation of the New Testament that have appeared up to today's issue, in order that new subscribers and those who have failed to receive any of the numbers may not miss any of this most fascinating of all serial stories, the story of all the ages. There will also appear the regular section of the day, which will be found to take up the narrative in the proper sequence.

The hopes of the publishers of the Daily Press when they decided to publish this translation by Prof. Goodspeed in twentieth century English have already been more than realized. Readers eagerly wait for the consecutive sections and compare the phraseology with the stately passages of the King James version.

The ministers of Glendale's churches are unanimous in approval of the plan and though some of them much prefer the authorized version, with its familiar wording, still they recognize the educational value of such a translation as this of Prof. Goodspeed, on account of the different shades of meaning that are revealed in many passages.

If you have not been reading this story of Jesus' life on earth, His teachings and the founding and nurture of His church, take this opportunity of starting in at the beginning and resolve to read it through . Many, many persons all down through the ages have been thrilled by it, have heeded its teachings and found salvation through the terms offered by the pitying Savior.

POLICE TO BE LENIENT AT FIRST ON PARKING LAW

"The Goblins will git you if you don't watch out" has now been changed to "The Cops will tag your car if you don't watch out."

The new parking ordinance went into effect this morning but Col. J. D. Fraser, chief of the police department, announced that he would give local motorists a few days to become accustomed to the new regulations before issuing orders to make arrests.

The parking time limit has been reduced from three hours to one hour on Broadway, between Louise street and Central avenue, and on Brand boulevard, between Colorado street and California avenue, between the hours of 10 a. m. and 6 p. m. except Sundays and holidays.

MISS MARR'S SUIT ON "GAS BONDS" CONTINUED

The suit brought by Miss Winifred F. Marr of Verdugo Woodlands to have bonds sold by the city of Glendale, August 30, in behalf of Municipal improvement district No. 6, declared illegal will be continued Tuesday before Judge Walton S. Wood in department No. 21 of the Superior court. The bonds were sold to provide funds for the extension of gas service in a certain section of Verdugo canyon. This was done at its own expense by the Southern California Gas company. The filing of this suit, according to City Attorney Ray L. Morrow, has prevented the cancellation of the bonds.

TWO AUTO COLLISIONS ON SAN FERNANDO ROAD

Two collisions occurred Friday afternoon on San Fernando road.

Charles Pennebaker of 1164 Raymond avenue was going west about 5:30 p. m. His machine was crowded off the road by a truck driven by C. B. Trumble of Los Angeles. One of the back fenders and the tail light were damaged on the passenger car.

The left running board was sideswiped about 2 p. m. on the automobile of J. F. Gilbert of 323 Geneva street. The other car was driven by Mrs. Margaret Kellogg of 2010 Glenwood road.

WIDENING OF SAN FERNANDO ROAD DESIRED

Eighty-six Foot Street Needed to Carry the Growing Traffic

Another improvement that will greatly benefit the western and the southern parts of Glendale and toward which steps are now being taken is the widening of San Fernando road from city limit to city limit. This has long been hoped for, but it looks now as though, within a few months, it would be an actual fact.

The proposition is to widen the highway to 60 feet from curb to curb, leaving 10 feet on either side for walks, thus making it, in fact, an 86-foot boulevard. At the present time this boulevard is of varied widths, and it is partially to eliminate this undesirable feature that the widening is to be done. Those who travel that road know that it is really too narrow to carry the traffic to which it is subjected at this time. This travel is increasing rapidly and it will be but a short time, according to the beliefs of men in a position to know, until the congestion is serious. At times, even now, this blocking of traffic is causing considerable trouble and delay.

Petitions have already been presented to the Glendale city council for the widening of San Fernando road from Los Feliz road to Los Angeles street, where the first part of the "S" turn occurs. Petitions are now being circulated for the widening of this road from Los Feliz south to the southerly city limits.

Other petitions are being circulated for the widening of this road from Los Feliz north to the Burbank city limits, this to include the territory represented in the petition already presented to the council.

It is understood that in Burbank there are no petitions for the widening of this thoroughfare and that none will be circulated until the property owners in the northern city have carefully considered the proposition. The property owners along the Glendale portion of San Fernando road are perfectly willing to cooperate with the owners of the Burbank section.

A combined committee is now working on the proposition of widening San Fernando, the membership being as follows: R. E. Johnston, Edwin F. Heisser, Thomas Detweiler, T. D. Watson, Mrs. M. B. Moberly, Mrs. Bacon, B. E. Loper, M. F. Bayha, Harry E. White, Dan Campbell, George H. Karr and Dr. A. G. Coleman.

MRS. JONES ENTERTAINS AT BRIDGE LUNCHEON PARTY

Mrs. Charles T. Jones of 413 West Lomita avenue entertained with a bridge-luncheon party at her home on Friday afternoon. Those present included Mrs. W. L. Andrews, Mrs. Fred Abbey, Mrs. Eugene Gilliland, Mrs. Homer Lockwood, Mrs. Colin Cable, Mrs. Jack Boetner, Mrs. Mabel Rudy and the hostess. The color scheme of yellow was carried out in the table decorations of chrysanthemums and favor baskets and also in the score cards. Mrs. Boetner made high score. Mrs. W. L. Andrews of Burbank will be the hostess to this group at its next meeting.

Mrs. Margaret Kaeding, president of the Auxiliary of the Glendale Post, American Legion, who has been confined to her home by illness ever since the Legion Convention in San Francisco, is urging all members of the local organization to be at Legion Hall Monday morning at 10 o'clock, prepared to participate in the Armistice Day parade. Cars will be provided she states, and if she is physically able, she will herself be in the procession.

DAMAGED

IN GLENDALE WHEN ARMISTICE WAS SIGNED

Big Parade With Noise and Fun Was Order of the Day

What did you do on November 11, 1918, the day on which the armistice was signed?

As our thoughts traverse the long road that has been traveled since that eventful day, memory comes creeping back to put her hand in ours and remind us of the travail of that period, the things that we thought and did.

At that time were were just passed the peak of the influenza epidemic. Schools and churches had been closed for weeks, but there was a promise, which was later fulfilled, that the churches would open for the following Sunday.

The drive for united work—the Salvation Army, the Knights of Columbus, Jewish Relief, Y. M. C. A., was on, with F. H. Vesper as its chairman, and Mrs. Charles H. Toll, working first lieutenant. Women teachers in the schools had been pressed into service in the campaign to raise the Glendale quota of $10,000.

Campaign headquarters represented a busy scene with Mrs. Toll, Ezra Parker, Eva Danials, Clara Midcalf, Carrie Noble, Mrs. M. O. Ryan, Mrs. John W. Cotton, Elizabeth Jackson, Lorraine Mitchell, Elsie Church and Vera Sinclair much in evidence.

It was not the day of mad revelry that turned the heads of the people on November 8, when the premature announcement of the armistice was made and the people were too anxious to believe it to challenge its authenticity. November 11 was a day of sober, chastened joy, no less happy, but a better organized and a more orderly celebration.

In obedience to the proclamation issued by City Manager T. W. Watson, automobiles fittingly decorated with flags, mottos and flowers assembled at three points at 4 o'clock p. m. for a parade, namely, Broadway and Glendale avenue, Brand and Broadway, and San Fernando and Central with captains at each place to direct the line of march. Every machine of the 345 in line was packed with merry makers tooting horns, ringing bells and registering joy in other ways, and every sort of noise-making tinware that could be fastened to the axles as trailers was brought into play.

Though impromptu, the parade did not lack for spectacular features. There were several coffins for the Kaiser and his outfit, one being labeled "Kaiser Bill—His Last Ride." The hook and ladder truck of the first department carried a scared little goat, along with which was a placard, "They got his nanny."

Trustee Hartley Shaw's automobile bore the words, "Good night, Bill." On another automobile was a placard, "Closed season for killing women and children."

It was a big time. Everybody was out and each tried hard to be heard above the rest of the din. It will long be rememberd by those who were in Glendale at that time.

Mrs. Jennie Eckart, sister of Mrs. Charles Glover of 414 Myrtle street, has moved into the new home she has purchased at 558 Palm drive. Mrs. Eckart visited Glendale this summer and liked it so well she decided to return and make her home here.

Mr. and Mrs. L. P. Abell have sold their home at 3444 Atwater avenue to George J. Florentine of West Temple street, who has taken possession. The Abell family has moved to 1944 Glendale boulevard, Edendale, which takes them nearer to their interests in Los Angeles and yet leaves them along the main line of communication with Glendale associations.

Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Peirce of 317 West Vine street had as their house guest for ten days C. W. Straubel of Green Bay, Wisconsin.

Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Hatz of 347 Milford street and Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Baird of 1729 Grand View spent the week end at Del Mar.

George Peterson and family of New Jersey are guests of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. P. Peterson of 809 East Acacia avenue. They plan to make their home in California.

Mrs. C. A. Mangun and Miss Hunter of Los Angeles, Mr. and Mrs. E. K. Harris of Glendale were Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Guittard of 524 West Patterson avenue.

Alexander Chase, who is attending the Dean School for Boys at Santa Barbara, spent the week-end with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Chase of 400 Riverdale drive. The occasion was in celebration of his fifteenth birthday aniversity.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Fox of 345 North Kenwood street have returned from a several days trip to San Francisco and Oakland. While in the north they visited Mrs. Fox's niece, Miss Alice Merritt, who is attending school at Mills College.

Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Caldwell of 509 North Kenwood street have returned from a four months tour of the east. While away they visited the Mayo Hospital at Rochester, Minn., where Mr. Caldwell underwent treatment. He has returned much better in health. The Caldwells also visited their former home in Vivian, Louisiana.

Miss Grace Osborn of 406 West Wilson avenue spent last week as the guest of her sister, Mrs. E. R. Furstenfeld, at Van Nuys.

Miss Nellie Rowe, who is attending the University at Redlands, was the guest of Miss Willamena Harnley of Uplands at the football game between U. C. and U. S. C. on Saturday. They both spent the week-end with Miss Rowe's parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Rowe, of 216 South Orange street.

The bride of a year was certain that her husband did not love her nearly so much as when they were first married. Accordingly, she went to a fortune-teller in order to find out what the stars had to say about the matter.

The mystery woman looked in her glass for a while, then, in low, sonorous accents, she said:

"Get a raw piece of beef, cut flat, about an inch thick. Slice an onion in two and rub the meat on both sides with it. Put on pepper and salt to taste and grill both sides over a bright fire. Drop on three small lumps of butter and two sprigs of parsley. Serve this up with the usual trimming and get him to eat it.

The young wife did so and her husband's affections never again wavered.

LOCAL FIRM HAS GOOD FALL TRADE

Russell - Pierce Furniture Co. Receives New Shipments form the East

The past week has been a busy one for the Russell-Pierce Furniture company, 1531 South San Fernando road. The first shipment of its new and complete line of eastern-made furniture has started to arrive and all hands have been busy getting the company's showing ready for the November business.

Dining room and bedroom furnishings predominate in the early showing of this wonderful line of high-class furniture, and the dining room pieces have, in particular, been treated most liberally. Walnut and mahogany have been given the preference in the company's display and it is indeed a treat to review this wonderful showing of the furniture builder's art.

It can be truthfully said that this progressive concern has one of the finest displays of living room furniture to be found in Glendale. To be accurate, they have on display 15 complete overstuffed sets, each one of a different price and design, including mohair, tapestry, velour and velvet. There is also a good showing of the reed and Kaltex, which is having a run at this time. In fact, this company's November showing is one that is most pleasing to the eye and gratifying to the purse.

During the past year this firm has added greatly to its floor space, especially in the display department. The stock, also, has known a generous increase. A line of Lloyd baby carriages has been added as has also been a complete line of the Kaltex furniture.

The rental service that is being conducted by this firm is meeting with unexpected success. This is being taken care of by J. P. Flickenstein, who knows the rental business from one end to the other. No charge of over $5 is made in connection with this service.

VALUE OF OIL

Use none but oils of the best grade, particularly for the engine. A cheap grade oil burns at a low temperature, depositing carbon in the cylinder head. It thins out much under heat, causing friction and shutting down the power. It is more readily sucked up above the pistons, where it burns, adding more carbon. The thin oil fails to seal the piston rings, and compression and power are lost. As it is inferior in lubricating qualities, it does not protect the main bearings as it should. This result in reducing the power, increasing the wear, making the engine knock long before it should, or possibly burning out a bearing. A cheap oil is dear at any price

Clubs Society Churches

NEW EDIFICE WILL BE DEDICATED SUNDAY, DEC. 16

Presbyterian Folk Are Rejoicing Over Near Finish of Work

Rev. W. E. Edmonds Saturday afternoon inspected the construction progress of the new house of worship of the Presbyterian church.

The dedication of this church, which will be "For the Glory of God and the Salvation of Man," has been set for December 16. Rev. George L. Snively of Lewistown, Illinois, who dedicated the Central Christian church, will be in charge.

Pews for the church auditorium have arrived in Los Angeles from Kansas City and are being delivered this week. They are of dark Flemish oak in dull finish. Their seating capacity ranges from four to fourteen. They will accomodate 1400 worshippers. Their cost is about $13,500. It is estimated that two weeks will be required to set them in place.

Plastering of the auditorium is expected to be finished this week. Most of it has been completed now.

The stone coping is being placed upon the tower roof. This is 108 feet above the sidewalk. The spires rise to a height of 130 feet.

According to Rev. Edmonds, the Seth Thomas memorial clock for the tower is now in storage in Los Angeles and will be installed soon by employes of the Brock Jewelry Company. The bell from the old church will sound for the clock chimes.

Five hundred light veneered folding chairs have been delivered by the Hayward-Wakefield company of Los Angeles and placed in the social hall of the church. Evening services are being held here temporarily. The seating capacity of the room, when all dividing doors are open, is about 600.

Adjoining the social hall is the church kitchen, which is being equipped by the Ladies' Aid society. It will contain an immense range, steam tables and all modern culinary equipment.

SOCIETY CIRCUS THE BIG EVENT FOR TUESDAY CLUB

By MISS EVA DANIELS

The Society Circus — the big event which has been in preparation for over six months will open up to the public next Friday and Saturday, November 16 and 17 at the Tuesday Afternoon club house, where all available space will be utilized for the wonderful booths in which the display will be one of spectacular goregousness as well as practical purpose.

Arts and Crafts sections, A and B, under the direction of the curators, Mrs. H. A. McPherson and Mrs. W. C. Wattles, will have charge of the Creative Booth, a thing of loveliness in art. The Music section of which Mrs. Warren Roberts is curator, will have charge of the fancy work booth, where beautiful articles of every description will fascinate the eye, and "Ye Olde Book Shoppe" which will take your mind back in imagination to the days of belles and beaux, gallantry and swashbuckling, and the peaceful days of long ago, when reading was an art and a good book a joy forever. Ye Olde Book Shoppe will give you not only the old but the new as well. The Fine Arts, under the direction of the Bible and the Travel sections, under the direction of Mrs. Roy Ballagh, Mrs. Charles Temple and Mrs. Mabel F. Ocker, will hold forth at this delightful booth. Then comes the Handkerchief booth, where handkerchiefs of every description—filmy lacy ones, tatting edged ones, embroidered linens, silk, hemstitched—every kind for every occasion, will greet the eye and will be in charge of maids and matrons, assisted by Calling committee, which Mrs. Claude Putnam and Mrs. Parkhurst Cory will direct. The wonderful Doll booth will make the children scream with delight. Lady dolls, baby dolls, little girl and boy dolls dressed to the nth degree—gee! but they are great and Christmas so near, too! My, but there are going to be some happy children in Glendale, and there's be one lovely doll donated by that famous film artist, Ruth Roland, with the loveliest face and curls of brown! Just wait until Friday when the Better Films committee of which Mrs. E. S. MeKee is chairman, together with Mrs. LeRoy Bosserman, Mrs. H. R. Boyer, Mrs. S. C. Leppelman and Miss Eva Daniels will have charge of dolls.

There's to be a Hope Chest filled with lingerie, towels and all kinds of necessities worth $250. The chest was donated by the New England Furniture company and is in charge of Mrs. Alex Mitchell, chairman of Courtesy, and her committee. The committee on International Relations of which Mrs. Hugh Blue is chairman, assisted by the Philanthropic committee, Mrs. Thomas Hudson, chairman, and Local Relief, Mrs. F. S. Card, chairman, will have charge of the Apron booth. Here is where all women will revel, as all kinds of aprons, from coveralls to dainty serving ones, will be displayed. The Fish Pond, where the children will hold forth with eagerness to see what the next fellow will catch, is in charge of the decoration committee, Mrs. J. M. Eyerick; Indian welfare, Mrs. B. O. Holybrook, and Reciprocity, Mrs. John R. White. The Parcel Post booth, where every package will be worth more than you pay, and packages will be delivered from all parts of the country upon payment of postage rates which will be satisfactory to all. This booth will be in charge of the Parliamentary Law section, Mrs. C. A. Brandstater, curator; Community Service, Mrs. C. C. Cooper, chairman; ex-service men and women, Mrs. Eugene Gilliland, chairman; and auditor, Mrs. R. A. Blackburn. Connected with this booth will be "the woman with a hundred pockets," each containing a package. The Candy box, a booth of sweetness, where home-made candy that will melt in your mouth will be sold in bags and boxes by the History and Landmarks section of which Mrs. G. H. Rowe is chairman; gifts and memorial chairman, Mrs. Stephen Packer, and chairman of emblems, Mrs. Minnie Patterson. The goose, that fowl from whose mouth comes fine prizes when you put a nickel in, will be in charge of the Civic committee of which Mrs. W. P. MacMullin is chairman, Mrs. P. S. McNutt, parliamentarian; Mrs. Harry Lockwood and Mrs. A. M. Hunt, badges. What circus could be complete without a "hot dog stand" where delicious sandwiches will be served by Mrs. F. L. Hollingsworth and a committee.

A noon luncheon will be served on Friday by the Hospitality committee of which Mrs. Homer Lockwood is cahirman. Friday evening there will be a delectable chicken pie dinner at which time exhibition dancing will be presented by Los Angeles artists. This dinner will be in charge of Mrs. Allan Fairchild, chairman of Home Economics and her committee. Mrs. Ella Richardson will serve Comalt at a decorated booth.

On Saturday evening, November 17, the Shakespeare section, which Mrs. Walter Jones is curator, will hold a dance. Enough said; Mrs. Pierson Hennig will be in charge of doors. Cooked food par excellence, cake, pies and hot dishes will be in charge of the Literature section, Mrs. Harry Wilcox, chairman. The information booth will be in charge of Mrs. Frank Ayars, and Mrs. C. W. Houston, while those in charge of the checkroom will be Mrs. C. J. Higgins and Mrs. J. C. McClellan.

On the grounds the Drama section, of which Mrs. Green is curator, will present to the public "The Streets of Cairo" where the midway will be in full swing with its side shows to captivate and Mrs. Mildred Dixon Puffer as a strolling gypsy singer and Alex MacDougall the piper will hold forth.

Ten cents admission fee will be charged and each person will receive a coupon which gives the opportunity of securing a Ford touring car if it corresponds in number to the one drawn from a box on Saturday evening at 10 o'clock by Ruth Roland, the film star. Cashiers in charge will be Mrs. A. A. Barton, Mrs. M. E. Plasterer and Mrs. E. W. Hayward.

Mrs. A. H. Montgomery, chairman of Ways and Means, who has labored incessantly for the success of this function promises this to be the greatest society circus ever held in the Southland, and Mrs. Daniel Campbell, president of the Tuesday Afternoon club, for which the money is being secured, invites all the people in Glendale to join in the effort put forth by its one thousand members to aid in its success.

CLASS MEETINGS ARE FEATURE OF THE WEEK

Class meetings have featured the week at Glendale High. Freshmen had an assembly Thursday at which officers were elected as follows: President, Marjorie Neilson; vice-president, Jeannette Yarbrough; secretary-treasurer, Louise Emerick. Lois Strother was elected yell leader for the girls and Howard Rettberg for the boys.

The juniors also held a meeting and turned in a lot of orders for their sweaters, selected last week. The class endorsed the proposition of a permanent school ring and agreed to co-operate with the ring committee in an effort to secure a good design, this in spite of the fact that only seniors and alumni will be permitted to wear the ring. The matter will be put up to other classes.

BROADWAY DADS' AUXILIARY HOLDS FINE MEETING

The meeting of the Fathers' auxiliary of the Broadway Parent-Teachers' association was held at the home of Mr. R. M. Ferguson, 529 Porter street, last evening.

Following the election of officers, an informal discussion was held and many valuable ideas introduced, which, when carried to a conclusion, will undoubtedly focus the attention of the surrounding territory upon the Parent-Teachers' association of Broadway school.

It was unanimously decided to immediately canvass the Broadway school district in an endeavor to acquire a 100 per cent membership.

The men's auxiliary, while potentially a part of the Parent-Teachers' association and working in conjunction with the mothers, is primarily a fathers' body and promotes the idea of the "Father and Son" movement. The Broadway auxiliary, however, goes farther and advocates the solving of many civic as well as educational problems.

The next regular meeting will be held Thursday night, November 22, at Broadway school. On December 6 the first regular "Men's Night" will be held and this will feature a genuine social evening for the purpose of "talking shop" and getting acquainted.

The following are the officers elected for the fiscal year:

President, Mr. R. M. Ferguson; vice-president, Mr. J. M. Smalley; treasurer, Mr. Grover Lofftus; secretary, Mr. C. R. Rettberg.

Chairmen: Publicity committee, Ray Kugler: child welfare, public health and juvenile protection, Dr. C. F. Twomy; finance, ways and means, R. V. Griffin; visiting and membership, C. R. Rettberg; entertainment, A. E. Reese; courtesy and hospitality, C. M. Coye; community advancement, O. W. Tarr; athletics, W. E. Dampf; school improvement, H. V. Henry; decoration, E. B. Caulkins; local relief, C. J. Diekman; patriotism, W. E. Mercer.

The secretary will be pleased to receive applications for membership and can be reached through P. O. Box 597, Glendale, Calif.

WE WOMEN

By BETTY BRAINERD

PEOPLE WHO FROWN

It was announced a few months ago that Syracuse university would not permit married students to enroll there. The logic behind this ruling is not altogether clear. I have always thought that married people—even young people—were human beings and as such were entitled to the pursuits and delights of education. I do not know just what the intent of Syracuse ruling is—whether it is aimed at young women or at men. Young men are in the majority at the colleges but it had been my impression that women, too, were people. The author of the Syracuse ruling seems to imply that we aren't.

Syracuse, in all likelinhood, will suffer considerable embarassment. A point of view of this kind is studded with thorns. It is like looking in a mirror and shooting at the reflection. The crash of the mirror may bring seven years of bad luck.

There has been considerable discussion about the ruling. Dr. Elmer Burritt Bryan, president of Ohio university, for example, has commented on the ruling of Syracuse. He says that married students will not be barred from Ohio. "My only requirement," Dr. Bryan says, "is that students be married as other people are. I have always frowned upon clandestine matches among students."

There are many people in this world who make a specialty of frowning upon things. Dr. Bryan's attitude, of course, is in order. He apparently feels that women are people but in a discussion of the subject at hand there is no necessity for frowning. Smile, Doctor, and the world smiles with you. Frown and you frown alone.

Something should be done about people who are chronic frowners. They frowned upon bobbed hair when it first became popular. They frowned upon popular music and said jazz desecrated the memories of the great music masters. But any music which gives rational pleasure to the grat masses of the people is good music and not all the king's men and not all the most serious frowners — as few and as verbose as they are—can change it.

I cannot see where marriage should be used as a barrier to education. Married people should frown against Syracuse university.

Bishop Rowe recently went on record with the following favorite story: "A fellow known as the blue parka man had been stationing himself between Fairbanks and the mines, some 20 miles away, and robbing people at the muzzle of a Winchester. A parka is a sort of shirt that fits tight at the wrists, with a hood attachment. The front part of the hood closes with a puckering string, leaving only a place for the wearer to look out of. The 'blue parka man' did well at his enterprise for some months and terrorized those who had to travel between Fairbanks and the mines. I was one of a quartet that had to make the trip one afternoon. People told us about the 'blue parka man,' but it was necessary to take the chance. The 'blue parka man' did get us, making us lay all our money on the ground at the muzzle of his rifle. 'Do you rob ministers?' I asked him. 'Depends on who they are,' replied the 'blue parka man.' 'I'm Bishop Rowe of the Episcopal church.' 'Wh-a-t!' the 'blue parka man' exclaimed. 'I'm ashamed of myself for not recognizing you, Bishop, and I'll not rob you. Hell! I'm a member of your church!'"

AUXILIARY WILL APPEAR IN PARADE

Conspicuous in the parade today and rightfully so, will be the representatives of the Women's Auxiliary of the Glendale post of the American Legion, consisting of mothers, wives, sisters and daughters of the men who forsook all to follow the flag. Theirs were the loyal souls which sent loved ones to battle, with smiles that hid breaking hearts, and whose prayers followed them and whose never-idle fingers worked without ceasing to provide such comforts as were possible to their loved ones, and others.

The Glendale Auxiliary was organized about four years ago. It is non-political and non-sectarian. Its aims and objects are to promote the welfare of the American Legion, and of all ex-service men. It invites to membership all women who are eligible and seeks the coperation of the public in its work.

FRANCIS W. READ

California put over a real brand of football Saturday. Some who were present at the big game still say that the Golden Bear is a dead one. After the contest we are of the opinion that the Bruins, although not the team they were last year or the year before, are still a real football team, the match for any aggregation in the west or, for that matter, in the entire nation. Today they stand the only team of any repute in the country that is undefeated, since Nebraska took Notre Dame down the line Saturday to the tune of 14 to 7.

California seemed to have an offense that was capable of some mighty powerful things when it opened up. How else can you account for the double pass and long run that netted the first touchdown, and the fake crisscross play that gave them the second score. In both these cases the work was perfect and the interference was all that could be desired. In many instances besides these the Bears showed a powerful offense. Once they had a chance to score but elected to try for a field goal and missed. Blewett, Dixon, Nichols, and Wittier were the backbone of the Blue and Gold offensive, while the entire line co-ordinated in great style.

As for defense, the California team was there the full time except in the last two minutes of play, the very time that it was needed the most. The Trojans would not have been able to advance the ball within scoring distance had it not been for the foul committed by the Bears giving the Trojans an additional 15 yards. By passes and runs they came within scoring distance and line bucks put it over. They were too strong here for the Bears. They had everything to gain and nothing to lose in the attempt, and so they opened up to their limit and took every chance possible. In the Bear defense Stew Beam at tackle played a great game, stopping the Trojans time and again when they attempted to get through the line.

The Trojan offense was weak throughout the game except in the final period. That was the only time that the California goal was ever in danger. Most of the time the ball was in Trojan territory. On the defense the Cardinal and Gold showed some real stuff and were able to stop the powerful California machine many times when it seemed that a goal was inevitable.

In the kicking the teams were about even. At the first Otto Anderson had the decided advantage in kicking, but later the Bruins recovered somewhat, yet not to their full extent. The truth is, and there is no use denying it, that the California kickers were not doing their stuff as usual. Bluett and Witter both were off their kicking game, although they played a great game otherwise.

California is still a wonderful team—not the wonder team of old—but nevertheless a real powerful football machine that has emerged victorious from the hardest game of the season. The Bears are worthy to defend the West on New Year's day.

FLAMES AGAIN SWEEP BEVERLY HILLS SPEEDWAY

Fire Breaks Out in Same Spot That Burned Last Week

For the second time in two weeks the fire demon Saturday afternoon trotted his flaming chariot out on the Los Angeles Speedway and started to "burn up the track."

The Fire Demon's run was just as disastrous as his brief run of October 31.

Saturday's fire broke out in virtually the same spot as the fire in October. In fact, the new fire consumed all new work on the track put in as a result of the first fire, and burned out an additional section of the old structure. Almost the entire east end of the track was consumed. None of the grandstand was touched, prompt work on the part of fire companies from Los Angeles and Beverly Hills saving the structure.

Fire authorities and race-track officials, puzzled by the similarity under which both fires occurred, have started an investigation into their probable causes. As in the case of the first fire,, Saturday's blaze broke out while at least a score of workmen were in and about the speedway. The flames spread so fast that the aid of the fire departments was needed before the workmen on the grounds could get to the blaze and bring it under control. An investigation was ordered into reports that interests opposed to the races started the fires.

It was announced that repairs to the track will be completed in time for races Thanksgiving day.

STANFORD HANDS OREGON DEFEAT BY 14 - 0 SCORE

PORTLAND, Ore., Nov. 12.—The Standford University Cardinals defeated the Oregon University here Saturday by a 14 to 0 score. The Cardinals played a wonderful game of football, the best they have displayed to date. Nevers and Campbell played a real game. Both the Stanford scores came in the first half.

CUBS BATTLE BULLDOGS TODAY

Striving to place itself in the percentage column in the Southern California Conference football race, the Cub Varsity tangle with the University of Redlands eleven on Moore Field this afternoon at 2:30.

While both teams are at the bottom of the ladder in the conference, the game ought to prove a thriller from start to finish as the Cubs are desperate after their disappointing defeat in the Pomona game and they intend to take their disappointment out on the Bulldogs if it can possibly be done. And on the other hand, the hitherto weakly Red and Gray agreggation has taken on new life since the possibility of defeating the Southern Branch has presented itself. This, together with the fact that it will be the only grid clash in Los Angeles, ought to draw a large Armistice Day crowd.

BULLDOGS FIGHT HARD

Having lost to Pomona, Occidental, and Caltech, the Bulldogs have not made a very impressive showing so far this year. They have relied on only two things, speed and fight, since the football season began. Their aerial attack which was widely heralded before the season opened, has not proved very effective so far although they used it almost entirely against Caltech last Saturday. However, the Cubs are not taking any chances and are preparing an adequate defense for the passing game.

CALIFORNIA BEARS DEFEAT U. S. C. TROJANS TO TUNE OF 13 TO 7 IN HOT TILT

Golden Bear is Still Supreme in Football Despite the Fact That the Trojans Registered a Touchdown

By FRANCIS W. READ

Hail to California! The Golden Bear is still supreme in football! Although bruised and battered from the blows of the terrible Trojan and a fistful of his fur torn off by the Cardinal and Gold forces, the Bear remains the undefeated gridiron monarch of the west.

The University of California defeated the University of Southern California by a score of 13 to 7 in the Los Angeles Coliseum Saturday before the largest crowd of fans that has ever witnessed a football game in the west.

The Blue and Gold victory was earned and the Bears deserve full credit for their win, but they were met with tremendous opposition from the Trojan camp. Although the ball was in their territory nearly the full time, the U. S. C. eleven fought like Trojans every minute, and were able to score a touchdown in the last quarter just as the final whistle sounded. This was the only time that the Bruin goal was in danger during the entire game.

Don Nichols, captain and fullback of the victors, played a wonderful game. He crossed the Trojan line for the first touchdown and figured in numerous plays. Jack Witter, who made the second marker, also was in great form but did not kick up to standard. Blewett's kicking also was faulty most of the time, but he made up for it by his work throughout the game.

Otto Anderson played the real game for U. S. C., outkicking Witter in the first period. Campbell made gains through the line but not big or frequent enough to cause much damage. Captain Chet Dolley made the Trojan marker and Hawkins converted.

California kicked off. After an exchange of punts the game settled down and the Bruins tried their offensive but were not able to get it across and the Trojans seemed to have the slight edge when it came to kicking. The quarter ended with California in possession of the ball on their own 30-yard line with a score of 0 to 0.

From their 38-yard line the Bears advanced the ball in one real parade down to the U. S. C. 38 line. The gain was made on runs and line bucks. From the 38-yard line came the play that netted the first touchdown of the game. Hoggy Evans at quarter received the ball from center and passed it back to Bill Blewett, who appeared to be ready to kick. Instead he passed the ball forward for one of the prettiest passes of the season Nichols made a perfect catch and ran nearly 30 yards for a touchdown. Blewett failed to kick the goal. The score was 6 to 0 in favor of California. For the rest of the quarter the teams struggled desperately, the Bears having the advantage but being unable to score. The half ended with U. S. C. in possession of the ball on their own 20 yard line.

In the third quarter California was able to advance the ball down the field to the Trojan 25-yard line, where they tried a place kick. The kick was wild and the ball went over the line several feet from the goal posts. The quarter ended 6 to 0 in favor of California.

From their own 55-yard line the Bruins advanced in the final period to a touchdown. From the thirty-yard line Witter smashed through on a fake criss-cross play and scored the second touchdown for California. Evans kicked the goal. The score was California 13, U. S. C. 0.

With this moment came luck for the Trojans. Kicking from their own three-yard line, where they had stopped the Bruin offensive, they started their only real offensive of the game. On a series of passes they advanced the ball to the Bear 40-yard line. Here a pass was mussed up, but the referee ruled that the Bears were guilty of holding and allowed the pass completed and penalized California 15 yards. On a series of line smashes and end runs the Trojans advanced the ball to the Bruin 8-yard line on their first downs. The Trojans called time out as the time keeper reached for his gun. The ball was then on the California 1-yard line. Chet Dolley pushed the oval over the goal line just as the timekeeper fired the shot ending the game. The chance to convert was, of course, allowed, and Hawkins converted. The final score stood California 13, U. S. C. 7.

The Trojans fought hard, especially in the last two minutes, but were outplayed. The ball was in their territory most of the game. The Bears proved the better team and won. They had no alibis for the score against them. They met a hard team and defeated them, even though they were scored on. They demonstrated that, although not the Wonder Team of old, they were still a real football machine, a team worthy of the University of California and the great Andy Smith. And so today they remain the only undefeated team in the west, the monarch of football in these parts.

Glendale High school's famous steam roller is expected to take the Van Nuys eleven down the line this afternoon when the two teams meet on the local gridiron. Having defeated every team they have played this season by substantial scores, the Dynamiters should easily defeat the valley eleven.

With the Elliott brothers, Ryan, West, Walton, Horii and the rest of the teah in first-class condition, there should be littledoubt as to the result of the game. They are going to look like a million and are sceduled to meet Covina in the championship game Friday.

Previous to the main affair of the day the lightweight eleven will take on the Burbank Midgets. The first game will start at 1 and the second at 3 o'clock.

The reply he received was: "Client's name Jenkins. Your name Smith."

BULL MONTANA AND OLSEN ARE READY FOR BOUT

Great Card Scheduled at Athletic Club Bouts Tonight

Bull Montana, world-famed wrestler, will meet the Terrible Swede Olsen in the main event of the Glendale Athletic club bouts this evening. Word from the training camps of the two wrestlers show that both men are in the prime of condition as the hour of the bout approaches.

Montana has appeared in Glendale previously when he grappled Hackenschmidt to a draw. Tonight will mark the first appearance of Olsen in this city and he will in all probability meet with a tremendous ovation from the local fans.

Teddie Biller and Battling Ward will box in the semi-windup affair of the evening. Ward and Biller have made splendid records in their previous bouts in the local arena, Ward has three times fought to a draw here, while Biller won a decisive victory in his one appearance. They will meet at 130 pounds. Ward is the valley 130-pound champion. Biller is from Pasadena.

The scrap between Pete Essick and Tony Gonzales should prove a good one. Both fighters are new to the local arena but each has a great record for wins. They will meet at 120 pounds. The curtain raiser will be between Joe Ricket and Earnie Stocker, both new to Glendale fans.

Tickets for tonight's scrap are going fast, declares Les Marston, matchmaker. The bouts will commence at 8:30, while the doors will open a half hour earlier. Hahn's Auditorium, 109 N. Brand, will be the scene of the scraps.

NEBRASKA BEATS NOTRE DAME 14 TO 7

LINCOLN, Neb., Nov. 12.—Notre Dame's attack broke against the solid wall of Nebraska defense Saturday.

The vaunted forward passing attack of the "Fighting Irish" was quenched by the solid and patfent defense of the midlander.

Stueldreher and the rest of his back-field mates tried desperately but couldn't get away against the Nebraska defense which was specially coached against both forward passes and a running attack.

The final score, Nebraska 14, Notre Dame 7.

"SO EASY"
Clutch Attachment for Chevrolet Cars
There is nothing so annoying or injurious as the constant grabbing of a clutch which has a tendency to loosen the mechanical parts from the radiator to the rear end and is extremely unpleasant to the ones riding in the car. After this grabbing has taken place for a short time there is a liklihood of its tearing the whole rear end out, which is an unnecessary expense if you will only realize the clutch of any car needs occasional attention. You will have a smooth, easy but positive action thereby saving yourself expensive repair bills and make riding a pleasure as the SO EASY makes a good clutch better.

THE GOSPEL ACCORDING TO MATTHEW

THE ancestry of Jesus Christ, who was descended from David, who was descended from Abraham.

Abraham was the father of Isaac, and Isaac of Jacob, and Jacob of Judah and his brothers, and Judah of Perez and Zerah, whose mother was Tamar. And Perez was the father of Hezron, and Hezron of Aram, and Aram of Aminadab, and Aminadab of Nahshon, and Nahshon of Salmon, and Salmon of Boaz, whose mother was Rahab. And Boaz was the father of Obed, whose mother was Ruth. And Obed was the father of Jesse, and Jesse of King David.

David was the father of Solomon, whose mother was Uriah's wife. And Solomon was the father of Rehoboam, and Rehoboam of Abijah, and Abijah of Asa, and Asa of Jehoshaphat, and Jehoshaphat of Joram, and Joram of Uzziah, and Uzziah of Jotham, and Jotham of Ahaz, and Ahaz of Hezekiah, and Hezekiah of Manasseh, and Manasseh of Amon, and Amon of Josiah, and Josiah of Jeconiah and his brothers, at the period of the Babylonian Exile.

After the Babylonian Exile, Jeconiah had a son named Shealtiel, and Shealtiel was the father of Zerubbabel, and Zerubbabel of Abiud, and Abiud of Eliakim, and Eliakim of Azor, and Azor of Zadok, and Zadok of Achim, and Achim of Azor, and Azor of Zadok, and Zadok of Achim, and Achim of Eliud, and Eliud of Eleazar, and Eleazar of Matthan, and Matthan of Jacob, and Jacob of Joseph, the husband of Mary, who was the mother of Jesus called Christ.

So the whole number of generations from Abraham to David is fourteen, and from David to the Babylonian Exile, fourteen, and from the Babylonian Exile to the Christ, fourteen.

HOW these were the circumstances of the birth of Jesus Christ. Mary, his mother, was engaged to Joseph, but before they were married it was found that she was about to become a mother through the influence of the holy Spirit. But her husband, Joseph, was an upright man and did not wish to disgrace her, and he decided to break off the engagement privately. But while he was thinking of doing this, an angel of the Lord appeared to him in a dream, and said,

"Joseph, descendant of David, do not fear to take Mary, your wife, to your home, for it is through the influence of the holy Spirit that she is to become a mother. She will have a son, and you are to name him Jesus, for it is he who is to save his people from their sins."

All this happened in fulfillment of what the Lord said through the prophet.

"The maiden will be pregnant and will have a son,
And they will name him Immanuel"

—a word which means "God with us." So when Joseph awoke from his sleep, he did as the angel of the Lord had directed him, and took his wife to his home. But he did not live with her as a husband until she had had a son, and he named the child Jesus.

Now after the birth of Jesus at Bethlehem in Judea, in the days of King Herod, astrologers from the east arrived at Jerusalem, and asked,

"Where is the newly born king of the Jews? For we have seen his star rise and we have come to do homage to him."

When King Herod heard of this, he was troubled, and all Jerusalem with him. So he calld together all the high priests and scribes of the people and asked them where the Christ was to be born. They said,

"At Bethlehem in Judea, for this is what the prophet wrote:

" 'And you, Bethlehem in Judah's land,
You are by no means least important among the leading places of Judah,
For from you will come a leader
Who will be the shepherd of my people Israel.' "

Then Herod secretly sent for the astrologers, and found out from them the exact time when the star appeared. And he sent them to Bethlehem, and said to them,

Go and inquire particularly about the child, and when you have found him, bring me word, so that I may go and do homage to him too."

So they obeyed the king and went, and the star which they had seen rise led them on until it reached the place where the child was, and stopped above it. When they saw the star, they were very glad, and they went into the house and saw the child with his mother, Mary, and they threw themselves down and did homage to him. They opened their treasure boxes and presented the child with gifts of gold, frankincense, and myrrh. Then, as they had been divinely warned in a dream not to go back to Herod, they returned to their own country by another way.

When they were gone, an angel of the Lord appeared to Joseph in a dream, and said,

"Wake up! Take the child and his mother and make your escape to Egypt, and stay there until I tell you to leave. For Herod is going to look for the child in order to make away with him."

Then he awoke and took the child and his mother by night and took refuge in Egypt, to fulfill what the Lord said by the prophet, "I called my son from Egypt."

Then Herod saw that he had been tricked by the astrologers, and he was very angry, and he sent and made away with all the boys in Bethlehem and in all tnat neighborhood who were two years old or under, for that was the time he had learned from the astrologers by his inquiries. Then the saying was fulfilled which was uttered by the prophet Jeremiah,

"A cry was heard in Ramah!
Weeping and great lamenting!
Rachel weeping for her children,
And inconsolable because they were gone."

But when Herod died, an angel of the Lord appeared in a dream to Joseph in Egypt and said.

"Wake up! Take the child and his mother and go to the land of Israel, for those who sought the child's life are dead."

Then he awoke, and took the child and his mother and went to the land of Israel. But hearing that Archelaus was reigning over Judea in the place of his father, Herod, he was afraid to return there; and being warned in a dream, he took refuge in the region of Galilee, and he went and settled in a town called Nazareth, in fulfilment of the saying of the prophets,

"He shall be called a Nazarene."

In those days John the Baptist appeared, and preached in the desert of Judea.

"Repent!" he said, "for the Kingdom of Heaven is coming!"

It was he who was spoken of by the prophet Isaiah, when he said,

"Hark! Someone is shouting in the desert,
'Get the Lord's way ready!
Make his paths straight!' "

John wore clothing made of hair cloth, and he had a leather belt around his waist, and he lived on dried locusts and wild honey. Then Jerusalem and all Judea and the whole Jordan valley went out to him, and they were baptized by him in the Jordan River, in acknowledgment of their sins. But when he saw many of the Pharisees and Sadducees coming for baptism, he said to them,

"You brood of snakes! Who warned you to escape from the wrath that is coming? Then produce fruit that will be consistent with your professed repentance! Do not suppose that you can say to yourselves, 'We have Abraham for our forefather,' for I tell you God can produce descendants for Abraham right out of these stones! But the axe is already lying at the roots of the trees. Any tree that fails to produce good fruit is going to be cut down and thrown into the fire. I am baptizing you in water in token of your repentance, but he who is coming after me is stronger than I am, and I am not fit to carry his shoes. He will baptize you in the holy Spirit and in fire. His winnowing fork is in his hand, and he will clean up his threshing-floor, and store his wheat in his barn, but he will burn up the chaff with inextinguishable fire."

Then Jesus came from Galilee to the Jordan, to John, to be baptized by him. But John dissuaded him, and said,

"I need to be baptized by you, and do you come to me?"

But Jesus answered,

"Let it be so this time, for it is right for us to do everything that God requires."

Then John consented. And when Jesus was baptized, he went right up out of the water, and the heavens opened, and he saw the Spirit of God come down like a dove and light upon him, and a voice from heaven said,

"This is my Son, my Beloved! This is my Chosen."

Then Jesus was guided by the Spirit into the desert, to be tempted by the devil. And he fasted forty days and nights, and after it he was famished. And the tempter came up and said to him,

"If you are God's son, tell these stones to turn into bread!" But he answered,

"The Scripture says, 'Not on bread alone is man to live, but on every word that comes from the mouth of God!"

Then the devil took him to the holy city, and made him stand on the summit of the Temple, and said to him,

"If you are God's son, throw yourself down, for the Scripture says,

" 'He will give his angels orders about you,
And they will lift you up with their hands
So that you may never strike your foot against a stone!' "

Jesus said to him,

"The Scripture also says, 'You shall not try the Lord your God.' "

Again the devil took him to a very high mountain, and he showed him all the kingdoms of the world and their splendor, and said to him,

"I will give all this to you, if you will fall on your knees and do homage to me."

Then Jesus said to him,

"Begone, Satan! For the Scripture says, 'You must do homage to the Lord your God, and worship him alone!' "

Then the devil left him, and angels come and waited on him.

But when Jesus heard that John had been arrested, he retreated to Galilee. And he left Nazareth and went and settled in Capernaum, by the sea, in the district of Zebulon and Naphtali, in fulfilment of what was said by the prophet Isaiah,

"Zebulon's land, and Naphtali's land,
Along the road to the sea, across the Jordan,
Galilee of the nations!
The people that were living in darkness
Have seen a great light,
And on those who were living in the land of the shadow of death
A light has dawned!"
From that time Jesus began to preach and say,
"Repent! for the Kingdom of Heaven is coming!"

As he was walking by the Sea of Galilee, he saw two brothers, Simon, who was afterward called Peter, and his brother, Andrew, casting a net into the sea, for they were fishermen. He said to them,

"Come and follow me, and I will make you fish for men!"

They immediately dropped their nets and went with him. And he went on a little farther and saw two other men who were brothers, James, the son of Zebedee, and his brother, John, in the boat with Zebedee, their father, putting their nets in order, and he called them. And they immediately left the boat and their father, and went with him.

Then he went all over Galilee, teaching in their synagogues and proclaiming the good news of the kingdom, and curing any disease or sickness among the people. Word went all through Syria about him, and people brought to him all who were suffering with any kind of disease, or who were in great pain—demoniacs, epileptics, and paralytics—and he cured them. Great crowds followed him about, from Galilee and the Ten Towns and Jerusalem and Judea and from the other side of the Jordan.

When he saw the crowds of people he went up on the mountain. There he seated himself, and when his disciples had come up to him, he opened his lips to teach them. And he said,

"Blessed are those who feel their spiritual need, for the Kingdom of Heaven belongs to them!

"Blessed are the mourners, for they will be consoled!

"Blessed are the humble-minded, for they will possess the land!

"Blessd are those who are hungry and thirsty for uprightness, for they will be satisfied!

"Blessed are the merciful, for they will be shown mercy!

"Blessed are the pure in heart, for they will see God!

"Blessed are the peacemakers, for they will be called God's sons!

"Blessed are those who have endured persecution for their uprightness, for the Kingdom of Heaven belongs to them!

"Blessed are you when people abuse you, and persecute you, and falsely say everything bad of you, on my account. Be glad and exult over it, for you will be richly rewarded in heaven, for that is the way they persecuted the prophets who went before you!

"You are the salt of the earth! But if salt loses its strength, how can it be made salt again? It is good for nothing but to be thrown away and trodden underfoot. You are the light of the world! A city that is built upon a hill cannot be hidden. People do not light a lamp and put it under a peck-measure; they put it on its stand and it gives light to everyone in the house. Your light must burn in that way among men so that they will see the good you do, and praise your Father in heaven.

"Do not suppose that I have come to do away with the Law or the Prophets. I have not come to do away with them but to enforce them. For I tell you, as long as heaven and earth endure, not one dotting of an 'i' or crossing of a 't' will be dropped from the Law until it is all observed. Anyone therefore, who weakens one of the slightest of these commands, and teaches others to do so, will be ranked lower in the Kingdom of Heaven; but anyone who observes them and teaches others to do so will be ranked high in the Kingdom of Heaven. For I tell you that unless your uprightness is far superior to that of the scribes and Pharisees, you will never even enter the Kingdom of Heaven!

"You have heard that the men of old were told 'You shall not murder,' and 'Whoever murders will have to answer to the court.' But I tell you that anyone who gets angry with his brother will have to answer to the court, and anyone who speaks contemptuously to his brother will have to answer to the great council, and anyone who says to his brother 'You cursed fool!' will have to answer for it in the fiery pit! So when you are presenting your gift at the altar, if you remember that your brother has any grievance against you, leave your gift right there before the altar and go and make up with your brother; then come back and present your gift. Be quick and come to terms with your opponent while you are on the way to court with him, or he may hand you over to the judge, and the judge may hand you over to the officer, and you will be thrown into prison. I tell you, you will never get out again until you have paid the last penny!

"You have heard that men were told 'You shall not commit adultery.' But I tell you that anyone who looks at a woman with desire has already committed adultery with her in his heart. But if your right eye makes you fall, tear it out and throw it away, for you might better lose one part of your body than have it all thrown into the pit! If your right hand makes you fall, cut it off and throw it away! For you might better lose one part of your body than have it all go down to the pit!

"They were told, 'Anyone who divorces his wife must give her a certificate of divorce.' But I tell you that anyone who divorces his wife on any ground, except unfaithfulness, makes her commit adultery, and anyone who marries her after she is divorced commits adultery.

Again, you have heard that the men of old were told, 'You shall not swear falsely, but you must fulfil your oaths to the Lord.' But I tell you not to swear at all, either by heaven, for it is God's throne, or by the earth, for it is his footstool, or by Jerusalem, for it is the city of the great king. You must not swear by your own head, for you cannot make one single hair white or black. But your way of speaking must be 'Yes' or 'No.' Anything that goes beyond that comes from the evil one.

"You have heard that they were told, 'An eye for an eye and a tooth for a tooth.' But I tell you not to resist injury, but if anyone strikes you on your right cheek, turn the other to him too; and if anyone wants to sue you for your shirt, let him have your coat too. And if anyone forces you to go one mile, go two miles with him. If anyone begs from you, give to him, and when anyone wants to borrow from you, do not turn away.

"You have heard that they were told, 'You must love your neighbor and hate your enemy.' But I tell you, love your enemies and pray for your persecutors, so that you may show yourselves true sons of your Father in heaven, for he makes his sun rise on bad and good alike, and makes the rain fall on the upright and the wrongdoers. For if you love only those who love you, what reward can you expect? Do not the very tax-collectors do that? And if you are polite to your brothers and no one else, what is there remarkable in that? Do not the very heathen do that? So you are to be perfect, as your heavenly Father is.

"But take care not to do your good deeds in public for people to see, for, if you do, you will get no reward from your Father in heaven. So when you are going to give to charity, do not blow a trumpet before yourself, as the hypocrites do, in the synagogues and the streets, to make people praise them. I tell you, that is all the reward they will get! But when you give to charity, your own left hand must not know what your right hand is doing, so that your charity may be secret, and your Father who sees what is secret will reward you.

"When you pray, you must not be like the hypocrites, for they like to pray standing in the synagogues and in the corners of the squares, to let people see them. I tell you, that is the only reward they will get! But when you pray, go into your own room, and shut the door, and pray to your Father who is unseen, and your Father who sees what is secret will reward you. And when you pray, do not repeat empty phrases as the heathen do, for they imagine that their prayers will be heard if they use words enough. You must not be like them. For God, who is your Father, knows what you need before you ask him. This, therefore, is the way you are to pray:

'Our Father in heaven,
Your name be revered!
Your kingdom come!
Your will be done on earth as it is done in heaven!
Give us today bread for the day,
And forgive us our debts, as we have forgiven our debtors.
And do not subject us to temptation,
But save us from the evil one.'

For if you forgive others when they offend you, your heavenly Father will forgive you too. But if you do not forgive others when they offend you, your heavenly Father will not forgive you for your offenses.

"When you fast, do not put on a gloomy look, like the hypocrites, for they neglect their personal appearance to let people see that they are fasting. I tell you, that is all the reward they will get. But when you fast, perfume your hair and wash your face, so that no one may see that you are fasting, except your Father who is unseen, and your Father who sees what is secret, will reward you.

"Do not store up your riches on earth, where moths and rust destroy them, and where thieves break in and steal them, but store up your riches in heaven, where moths and rust cannot destroy them, and where thieves cannot break in and steal them. For wherever your treasure is, your heart will be also. The eye is the lamp of the body. If then your eye is sound, your whole body will be light, but if your eye is unsound, your whole body will be dark. If, therefore, your very light is darkness, how deep the darkness will be! No slave can belong to two masters, for he will either hate one and love the other, or stand by one and make light of the other. You cannot serve God and money. Therefore, I tell you, do not worry about life, wondering what you will have to eat or drink, or about your body, wondering what you will have to wear. Is not life more important than food, and the body than clothes? Look at the wild birds. They do not sow or reap, or store their food in barns, and yet your heavenly Father feeds them. Are you not of more account than they? But which of you with all his worry can add a single hour to his life? Why should you worry about clothing? See how the wild flowers grow. They do not toil or spin, and yet I tell you, even Solomon in all his splendor was never dressed like one of them. But if God so beautifully dresses the wild grass, which is alive today and is thrown into the furnace tomorrow, will he not much more surely clothe you, you who have so little faith? So do not worry and say, 'What shall we have to eat?' or 'What shall we have to drink?' or 'What shall we have to wear?' For these are all things the heathen are in pursuit of, and your heavenly Father knows well that you need all this. But you must make his kingdom, and uprightness before him, your greatest care, and you will have all these other things besides. So do not worry about tomorrow, for tomorrow will have worries of its own. Let each day be content with its own ills.

"Pass no more judgments upon other people, so that you may not have judgment passed upon you. For you will be judged by the standard you judge by, and men will pay you back with the same measure you have used with them. Why do you keep looking at the speck in your brother's eye, and pay no attention to the beam that is in your own? How can you say to your brother, 'Just let me get that speck out of your eye,' when all the time there is a beam in your own? You hypocrite! First get the beam out of your own eye, and then you can see to get the speck out of your brother's eye.

"Do not give what is sacred to dogs, and do not throw your pearls before pigs, or they will trample them under their feet and turn and tear you in pieces. Ask, and what you ask will be given you. Search, and you will find what you search for. Knock, and the door will open to you. For it is always the one who asks who receives, and the one who searches who finds, and the one who knocks to whom the door opens. Which of you men when his son asks him for some bread will give him a stone? Or if he asks for a fish, will he give him a snake? So if you, bad as you are, know enough to give your children what is good, how much more surely will your Father in heaven give what is good to those who ask him for it! Therefore, you must always treat other people as you would like to have them treat you, for this sums up the Law and the Prophets.

"Go in at the nrarow gate. For the road that leads to destruction is broad and spacious, and there are many who go in by it. But the gate is narrow and the road is hard that leads to life, and there are few that find it.

"Beware of the false prophets, who come to you disguised as sheep but are ravenous wolves underneath. You can tell them by their fruit. Do people pick grapes off thorns, or figs off thistles? Just so any sound tree bears good fruit, but a poor tree bears bad fruit. No sound tree can bear bad fruit, and no poor tree can bear good fruit. Any tree that does not bear good fruit is cut down and burned. So you can tell them by their fruit. It is not everyone who says to me 'Lord! Lord!' who will get into the Kingdom of Heaven, but only those who do the will of my Father in heaven. Many will say to me on that Day, 'Lord! Lord! Was it not in your name that we prophesied, and by your name that we drove out demons, and by your name that we did many mighty acts?' Then I will say to them plainly, 'I never knew you! Go away from me, you who do wrong!'

"Everyone, therefore, who listens to this teaching of mine and acts upon it, will be like a sensible man who built his house on rock. And the rain fell, and the rivers rose, and the winds blew, and beat about that house, and it did not go down, for its foundations were on rock. And anyone who listens to this teaching of mine and does not act upon it, will be like a foolish man who built his house on sand. And the rain fell and the rivers rose, and the winds blew and beat about that house, and it went down, and its downfall was complete."

When Jesus had finished this discourse, the crowds were astounded at his teaching, for he taught them like one who had authority and not like their scribes.

When Jesus came down from the mountain, great crowds of people followed him. And a leper came up to him and fell on his knees before him, saying,

"If you only choose, sir, you can cure me!"

So he stretched out his hand and touched him, saying, "I do choose! Be cured!"

And his leprosy was immediately cured. Then Jesus said to him,

"See that you tell nobody, but go! Show yourself to the priest, and in proof of your cure, offer the gift that Moses prescribed."

When he got back to Capernaum, a Roman captain came up and appealed to him, saying,

"My servant, sir, is lying sick with paralysis at my house, in great distress."

He said to him,

"I will come and cure him."

But the captain answered,

"I am not a suitable person, sir, to have you come under my roof, but simply say the word, and my servant will be cured. For I am myself under the orders of others and I have soldiers under me, and I tell one to go, and he goes, and another to come, and he comes, and my slave to do something, and he does it."

The New Testament Translation--Continued

THE GOSPEL ACCORDING TO MATTHEW

When Jesus heard this he was astonished, and said to his followers,

"I tell you, I have not found anyone in Israel with such faith as this. And I tell you, many will come from the east and from the west and take their places at the feast with Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob, in the Kingdom of Heaven, while the heirs to the kingdom will be driven into the darkness outside, there to weep and grind their teeth!"

Then Jesus said to the captain,

"Go! You shall find it just as you believe!"

And the servant was immediately cured.

Jesus went into Peter's home, and there he found Peter's mother-in-law sick in bed with fever. And he touched her hand and the fever left her, and she got up and waited on him.

In the evening they brought to him many who were possessed by demons, and he drove the spirits out with a word, and cured all who were sick, in fulfilment of the words of the prophet Isaiah, "He took our sickness and carried away our diseases."

Then Jesus, seeing a crowd about him, gave orders to cross to the other side. And a scribe came up and said to him,

"Master, I will follow you wherever you are going!"

And Jesus said to him,

"Foxes have holes and wild birds have nests, but the Son of Man has nowhere to lay his head!"

And another of his disciples said to him,

"Let me first go, sir, and bury my father."

But Jesus said to him,

"Follow me, and leave the dead to bury their own dead!"

And he got into the boat, and his disciples went with him. And suddenly a terrific storm came up on the sea, so that the waves broke over the boat, but he remained asleep. And they came and woke him up, saying,

"Save us, sir! We are lost!"

And he said to them,

"Why are you afraid? You have so little faith!"

Then he got up and reproved the wind and the sea, and there was a great calm. And the men were amazed and said,

"What kind of a man is this? For the very winds and sea obey him!"

When he reached the other side, in the region of Gadara, two men possessed by demons came out of the tombs and confronted him; they were so extremely violent that nobody could go along that road. And they suddenly screamed out,

"What do you want of us, you Son of God! Have you come here before the appointed time to torture us?"

Now at some distance from them there was a great drove of pigs feeding. And the demons entreated him saying,

"If you are going to drive us out, send us into the drove of pigs."

And he said to them,

"Begone!"

And they came out and went into the pigs. And suddenly the whole drove rushed over the steep bank into the sea, and perished in the water. And the men who tended them ran away and went off to the town and told it all, and the news about the men possessed by demons. And the whole town came out to meet Jesus, and when they saw him they begged him to go away from their district.

So he got into the boat and crossed the sea, and returned to his own city.

Some people came bringing to him on a bed a man who was paralyzed. Seeing their faith, Jesus said to the man,

"Courage, my son! Your sins are forgiven."

Some of the scribes said to themselves,

"This man is talking blasphemy!"

Jesus knew what they were thinking, and he said,

"Why do you have such wicked thoughts in your hearts? For which is easier, to say 'Your sins are forgiven,' or to say, 'Get up and walk'? But I would have you know that the Son of Man has authority to forgive sins on earth." Then he said to the paralytic,

"Get up, pick up your bed and go home!"

And he got up and went home. And when the crowd saw it, they were filled with awe, and praised God for giving such power to men.

Afterward, as Jesus was passing along, he saw a man called Matthew sitting at the tollhouse, and he said to him,

"Follow me!"

And he got up and followed him.

While Jesus was at home at table, a number of tax-collectors and irreligious people came in and joined Jesus and his disciples at table. And the Pharisees observed it, and they said to his disciples,

"Why does your master eat with tax-collectors and irreligious people?"

But he heard it, and said,

"It is not well people but the sick who have to have the doctor! You must go and learn what the saying means, 'It is mercy, not sacrifice, that I care for.' I did not come to invite the pious but the irreligious."

Then the disciples of John came up to him and said,

"Why is it that we and the Pharisees are keeping the fast, while your disciples are not keeping it?"

Jesus said to them,

"Can wedding guests mourn as long as the bridegroom is with them? But a time will come when the bridegroom will be taken from them, and they will fast then. But no one sews a patch of unshrunken cloth on an old coat, for the patch will tear away from the coat, and make the hole worse than ever. And people do not put new wine into old wine-skins, or if they do, the skins burst, and the wine runs out and the skins are spoiled. But people put new wine into fresh wine-skins, and so both are saved."

Just as he said this to them, an official came up and bowing low before him said to him,

"My daughter has just died. But come! Lay your hand on her and she will come to life!"

And Jesus got up and followed him, with his disciples. And a woman who had had a hemorrhage for twelve years came up behind him and touched the tassel of his cloak. For she said to herself, "If I can just touch his cloak, I will get well." And Jesus turned and saw her, and he said,

"Courage, my daughter! Your faith has cured you!"

And from that time the woman was well.

When Jesus reached the official's house, and saw the flute-players and the disturbance the crowd was making, he said,

"You must go away, for the girl is not dead; she is asleep." And they laughed at him. But when he had driven the people out, he went in and grasped her hand, and the girl got up. And the news of this spread all over that part of the country.

As Jesus was passing along from there, two blind men followed him, calling out,

"Take pity on us, you Son of David!"

When he had gone indoors, the blind men came up to him, and he said to them,

"Do you believe that I can do this?"

They said to him,

"Yes, sir."

Then he touched their eyes and said,

"You shall have what your faith expects."

And their sight was restored. Jesus warned them sternly not to let anyone hear of it. But they went out and spread the news about him all over that part of the country.

But just as they were going out, some people brought to him a dumb man who was possessed wit ha demon, and as soon as the demon was driven out, the dumb man was able to speak. And the crowds were amazed, and said,

"Nothing like this was ever seen in Israel!"

But the Pharisees said,

"It is by the aid of the prince of the demons that he drives them out."

Jesus went round among all the towns and villages, teaching in their synagogues, and proclaiming the good news of the kingdom, and curing any disease or illness.

But the sight of the crowds of people filled him with pity for them, because they were bewildered and dejected, like sheep that have no shepherd. Then he said to his disciples.

"The harvest is abundant enough, but the reapers are few. So pray to the owner of the harvest to send reapers to gather it."

Then he called his twelve disciples to him, and gave them power over the foul spirits so that they could drive them out, and so that they could heal any disease or illness.

These are the names of the twelve apostles: first, Simon, who was called Peter, and his brother Andrew, and James the son of Zebedee and his brother John, Philip and Bartholomew, Thomas and Matthew the tax-collector, James the son of Alpheus and Thaddeus, Simon the Zealot and Judas Iscariot who afterward betrayed him.

Jesus sent these twelve out, after giving them these directions:

"Do not go among the heathen, or to any Samaritan town, but proceed instead to the lost sheep of Israel's house. And as you go about, preach and say, 'The Kingdom of Heaven is at hand!' Cure the sick, raise the dead, heal lepers, drive out demons. Give without payment, just as you received without payment. Do not accept gold or silver or copper money to put in your pockets, and do not take a bag for your journey, nor two shirts, nor shoes, nor a staff, for the workman deserves his food! Whatever town or village you come to, inquire for some suitable person, and stay with him till you leave the place. And as you go into his house, wish it well. If the house deserves it, the peace you wish it will come over it, but if it does not deserve it, your blessing will come back upon yourselves. And where no one will welcome you, or listen to you, leave that house or town and shake off its very dust from your feet. I tell you, the land of Sodom and Gomorrah will fare better on the Day of Judgment than that town.

"Here I am sending you out like sheep among wolves. So you must be wise like serpents, and guileless like doves. But be on your guard against men, for they will give you up to their courts, and have you flogged in their synagogues, and you will be brought before governors and kings on my account, to bear your testimony before them and the heathen. But when they give you up, you must have no anxiety about how to speak or what to say, for you will be told at the very moment what you ought to say, for it is not you who will speak, it is the Spirit of your Father that will speak through you. One brother will give up another to death, and a father his child, and children will turn against their parents, and have them put to death. You will be hated by everybody on my account, but the man who holds out to the very end will be saved. But when they persecute you in one town, make your escape to another, for I tell you, you will not have gone through all the towns of Israel before the Son of Man arrives. A pupil is not better than his teacher, nor a slave better than his master. A pupil should be satisfied to come to be like his teacher, or a slave to come to be like his master. If men have called the head of the house Beelzebub, how much worse names will they give to the members of his household! So do not be afraid of them. For there is nothing covered up that is not going to be uncovered, nor secret that is not going to be known. What I tell you in the dark you must say in the light, and what you hear whispered in your ear, you must proclaim from the housetops. Have no fear of those who kill the body, but cannot kill the soul. You had better be afraid of one who can destroy both soul and body in the pit. Do not sparrows sell two for a cent? And yet not one of them can fall to the ground against your Father's will! But the very hairs on your heads are all counted. You must not be afraid; you are worth more than a great many sparrows! Therefore everyone who will acknowledge me before men I will acknowledge before my Father in heaven, but anyone who disowns me before men, I will disown before my Father in heaven.

"Do you not think that I have come to bring peace to the earth. I have not come to bring peace but a sword. For I have come to turn a man against his father and a daughter against her mother and a daughter-in-law against her mother-in-law, and a man's enemies will be in his own household. No one who loves father or mother more than he loves me is worthy of me, and no one who loves son or daughter more than he loves me is worthy of me, and no one who will not take up his cross and follow me is worthy of me. Whoever gains his life will lose it, and whoever loses his life for my sake will gain it.

"Whoever welcomes you welcomes me, and whoever welcomes me welcomes him who has sent me. Whoever welcomes a prophet because he is a prophet will have the same reward as a prophet, and whoever welcomes an upright man because he is upright will have the same reward as an upright man. And no one who will give the humblest of my disciples even a cup of cold water because he is my disciple, I tell you, can ever fail of his reward."

When Jesus had finished giving his twelve disciples these instructions, he went on from there to teach and preach in their towns.

Now when John heard in prison of what the Christ was doing, he sent by his disciples and said to him,

"Are you the one who was to come, or should we look for someone else?"

Jesus answered,

"Go and report to John what you hear and see. The blind are regaining their sight and the lame can walk, the lepers are being cured and the deaf can hear, the dead are being raised and good news is being preached to the poor. And blessed is the man who finds nothing that repels him in me."

But as they were going away, Jesus began to speak to the crowds about John.

"What was it that you went out into the desert to look at? A reed swaying in the wind? Then what did you go out there to see? A man luxuriously dressed? Men who dress in that way you find in the palaces of kings. Then why did you go out there? Was it to see a prophet? Yes, I tell you, and far more than a prophet! This is the man of whom the Scripture says,

" 'Here I send my messenger on before you;
He will prepare the road ahead of you.'

Taxi Barber Service Boon to Tired Business Man Who Stays Out Late and Doesn't Hear Alarm Clock

This barber shop on wheels is doing business in Los Angeles and George Baker, who conceived the idea, says it's going to prove a gold mine. The shop consists of a regular stock motorcycle, equipped with a "bath tub" and a tandem seat so adjusted that the barber faces the patron. A small electric stove keeps the shaving water warm. Baker swears that so far he hasn't even "snicked" a customer, even when going over the bumpiest bumps.

Among the guests of the evening were Mrs. Truman of Altico, Wis., Mrs. Porter and Mrs. Morrison of Los Angeles and Mrs. Andrews, district deputy of Pasadena. Music was conducted by Mrs. A. Hock.

Outlines were given by Mrs. Andrews for a speedway campaign for new members. The membership of the lodge has nearly doubled in numbers. Election will be held on December 14.

HOME NURSING and HEALTH HINTS

A PLACE FOR EVERYTHING

A woman visiting in a friend's home awoke in the night to hear the sounds of great distress coming from the bedroom across the hall.

Hurrying into bathrobe and slippers she tapped on the door. Her friend was ill, distressingly so, with acute indigestion. Her husband, half awake and thoroughly frightened, was patting her head and assuring her that he adored her and that she would be all right soon.

The sufferer, white and streaming with perspiration, lay back exhausted on her pilows. "I'm sure I'm going to die!" she said. "This awful, awful pain! I'm just afraid to move! Are you sure it won't go to my heart?"

The friend, who was not at all sure of anything except that a great deal of good valuable time was being wasted, thought it would be wise to summon the doctor. "What is his telephone number?" she asked.

"Goodness, dear, I don't remember. Do you?" The sick woman appealed to her husband. He thought the number was either 345 or 346 but he had forgotten the exchange. He was sure, however, that there was a 3 in it.

This was not exactly satisfactory so the visitor fumbled her way down stairs in the dark, trying to remember where the light switch was and thinking of the ease with which she could have summoned her own doctor at home. Not only did she know his telephone number but it was written on the top of her medicine cupboard door and on the emergency slip on the outside of her telephone book.

The doctor, speaking sleepily, was alert in a moment.

"Mrs. Laird?" he asked, "Oh, one of her attacks? Just give her some soda water—warm water and soda bi carb, you know,—and put mustard plaster over the epigastrium. I will come if she wishes me to but that will make her more comfortable in the meantime. I know these attacks well and there is no occasion for alarm."

Mary Agnew hurried back to her friend and sent her husband down to light the gas and warm water. There was a delay while he searched for the matches and another delay while Mary Agnew looked for baking soda in the untidy medicine cupboard upstairs and again the cluttery cupboard downstairs.

Sending Bob Laird upstairs with a cupful of warm water and soda for his distressed wife, Mary Agnew searched for the mustard and flour. The kitchen, left to the ministrations of a slatternly maid, was a hopeless place. There was bread in the can labeled "flour" and the mustard was located in an unopened tin, then doing duty to hold the kitchen window open. There was a little flour in the bottom of the bin marked "sugar" and after a frenzied search for old muslin or linen in the kitchen cupboard drawers Mary Agnew ran up to her own room for some old handkerchiefs, which she tore up to make the mustard plaster.

"At least I know where the epigastrium is," she told herself, a trifle whimsically. "It's a disconcerting name, however, for the pit of a person's stomach."

Measuring one part of mustard and four parts of flour, she mixed them carefully, crushing the lumps and adding tepid water until the mixture was the consistency of well cooked cereal. Having made a mat of paper and turned the edges in, she poured the mustard paste into it and covered the mat with the old linen which she fastened underneath with tiny safety pins.

Having applied the mustard paste to her friend's epigastrium, she found—after much searching—a hot water bottle that did not leak. And this, half filled with water that was comfortably hot, was placed near the sufferer's feet. After 20 minutes the mustard was removed, the reddened place well washed with soap and water to remove possible traces of mustard, and cold cream applied.

The attack of indigestion having passed by this time, Mrs. Laird fell asleep, and Mary Agnew went back to bed.

"If people only realized," she mused, "how much pain and time could be saved in just such emergencies by knowing where the mustard and the matches and the doctor's telephone number are."

MONTROSE NOTES

The chamber of commerce dance held a the La Crescenta school house Saturday evening drew a large crowd, and was thoroughly enjoyed by all who attended. The music was splendid and the floor was in fine shape. A jolly crowd of young people attended as well as the older folks who enjoyed the affair quite as much as their sons and daughters. Saturday's dance was the first of a number to be given by the Montrose organization during the winter months.

Father Paul Meyers is a house guest at the S. M. Meyers home for a few days. He will leave shortly for China, there to spend the next twelve years in the missionary field. J. C. Meyers and family of Alexandria, Minn., are also in Montrose. They made the trip by automobile from the east.

The La Crescenta Mutual Water company has rented the small office room adjacent to the State bank, on the south, and will take possession about the fifteenth of the month. Mr. Easton, who now occupies the office, will return to his place on Michigan avenue. The large increase in stockholders in the water company, with the added amount of work connected therewith has made it necessary for the company to secure the services of a bookkeeper who can devote entire time to the "job." The work thus far has been handled by the Bank.

The beautiful Harry Hooper home on East Honolulu avenue has recently been purchased by Mr. B. C. Morison of La Canada, President of the United States Royalties company. Mr. Morrison will take possession of the newly acquired property within the next week, and Mr. and Mrs. Hooper will move to Hollywood to make their future home. The Hoopers have been residents of Montrose for some time and have made many friends here. It is with sincere regret that Montrose people learn of their departure.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Anderson are riding around in a "spankin" new Ford four-door Sedan. "It's a fine little car to get there in" says Mr. Anderson.

PREVENTING A 'SKID'

It is a good practice, in slippery weather, to slowly apply the brakes without releasing the clutch, until the momentum of the car is considerably reduced.

SAFETY FIRST SHOULD BE OBJECT

N. A. C. C. Head Pleads for Cooperation of Motorists

Pointing to the safe operation of motor vehicles on the highways as one of the chief problems of motoring world, Charles Clifton, president of the association, called upon the members of the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce at the fall meeting to give their personal services and enlist their organizations in the elimination of accidents.

President Clifton stated that there were three main facts in the motor accident situation:

1. Motor accidents will be greater this year than last if the present rate keeps up.

2. The peak of highway accidents, mortality statistics show, is in October and November.

3. These hazards can be avoided, if enough public interest is aroused.

Study of the safety efforts of various cities shows several ways which have worked successfully.

Stricter law enforcement backed by public opinion is important.

More playgrounds so that children will have better play spaces than the street have aided in reducing accidents to children.

Safety education in the schools, teaching children traffic rules and the need for care on the highways, has resulted in the reduction of the child mortality rate in Detroit, St. Louis and other cities.

The National Automobile Chamber of Commerce is giving $6500 in prizes for safety essays by school children in all states and safety lessons by teachers in all states in the union. It is also engaged in research on the causes and elimination of highway accidents. Last year more than half a million essays were submitted.

ROAD MAINTENANCE

"Tax the automobile and build the road from the revenues," is a principle which has been expressed by the noninformed voter too many times. But education and sound economics as enunciated by bankers and statesmen has changed the cry. Few who now concern themselves with road financing, but understand that the right way to pay for a road is either by road bonds based on general, not specific taxation, or from current general funds.

The experience of years proves that the fees from taxed road vehicles must be spent for maintenance. Maintenance is always being used up; vehicle taxes are always coming in to provide that maintenance. To use the maintenance fund for building more roads is as uneconomic as the procedure of the man who builds a house for rent, and instead of using some of the rent to keep his property in condition, and insure it and paint it, spends it for another house, letting the first go to ruin. He will end in the poorhouse, and the county or State which does not provide a steady maintenance fund for road upkeep will be bankrupt in good roads long before the roads are pad for.

It is gradually coming to be recognized that snow removal is legitimate maintenance charge. All highways which can be used but six months of the twelve cost twice their price.

C. B. GUTHRIE SERVES FOR MONTH

Joins Uncle Sammy's Force When Age Limit is Raised

Charles B. Guthrie, one of the leading real estate men in Glendale, was refused permission to enlist in the army during the early days of the war on account of his age. When the age limit was raised to 45, however, he enlisted in the officers' training corps and was sent to Camp McArthur at Wasco, Texas. At that camp he was assigned to company N of the C. R. O. T. C. and served there until the armistice was signed, a period of a little over one month.

Mr. Guthrie said that on the day the armistice was signed there was very little excitement at Camp McArthur, as a rumor to the effect that an armistice had been signed was circulated a few days before and had proven false. The soldiers were skeptical. On armistice night the men of the town made the night hideous with their yells and soldiers in the camp were long and loud in their protests against having their sleep broken by the noise.

The men of the camp had their first real proof that the war was over on November 12. Several soldiers, Mr. Guthrie among them, were standing on the steps of the quartermaster's department when an officer passed. The soldiers came to attention and saluted. The officer said:

"Never mind the salute, boys. The war is over and you are all going home in a very few days."

Mr. Guthrie's company was one of the first to be demobilized, and he returned to Glendale to resume his work as real estate broker. The fact that Mr. Guthrie returned to this city and again took up his work at selling real estate is ample proof that he believed in the future of this city and was willing to cast his lot with local boosters.

CHESTER JONES TELLS THRILLING STORY

Goes Over Top Early Armistice Day Morning

Of the many experiences related in connection with the signing of the armistice possibly none is more interesting than is that of Chester Jones, well known in Glendale, who was on the firing line near Metz when the armistice was signed.

Jones' regiment went over the top at 10 o'clock on the night of November 10 and advanced about three miles against the enemy in the face of stubborn resistance. Metz was one of the remaining strongholds of the Germans, and they realized that when Metz was lost to them the territory in that section would be impossible to hold. At 2 a. m. the advancing Americans were halted and ordered to hold the line until the signing of the armistice.

From 2 o'clock in the morning there was general artillery fire all along the front, until 10 o'clock, when all available allied artillery was thrown into action and bombarded the enemy lines until 11 o'clock.

At 11 o'clock on the minute all of the firing ceased along the entire front. A German infantryman mounted the parapet of the enemy trenches and sounded the American recall and turning to the American trenches shouted in English, "Goodbye, boys, I'm going back home to my wife and family."

On armistice night the doughboys along the entire front held a celebration and used up all the signal lights and artillery rockets in a wild display of fireworks. Before darkness settled down on armistice day, parties of doughboys made trips into "no-man's land" to gather souvenirs and trophies of the last battle.

The 34th regiment remained in the lines at Metz until after Thanksgiving, burying the dead and cleaning up the entire front. From their position before Metz they were moved to the Rhine and were relieved to return to the United States.

MOTORING POINTERS

When shifting gears always grasp the lever firmly. This lever is capable of a bad kick-back if the gears are carelessly shifted. A careless shift means one in which the gears strip over each other before their teeth actually mesh, during which process the gear shift lever will vibrate enough to give the relaxed fingers of an operator a bad kick, and perhaps injure one of them.

USEFUL AND SAFE

AT HOME

Not on some dim and distant star,
Right here at home the duties are.
The little troubles I may mend,
The frets and trials I may end.
I know there is a task for me
Today and here, if I will see.
To find my place I need not roam,
For it is here, right here, at home.

I need not go to some far land
If I would know and understand
The human heart, for joy and pain
And strife and trial, loss and gain,
Grief, trouble, love, all things that be
Are here at home, and I may see
And know—far off I need not roam,
For all of life is here, at home.

So, what the distant stars may tell,
First let me do my duty well
Right here at home, and find my place
Not in some misty deeps of space,
But with the folks who move about
And live and love, day in, day out,
For folks, wherever I may roam
Are just the same as here, at home.

My promises let me make good
At home, in my own neighborhood;
My pledges of good faith to make
And keep right here, for duty's sake.
This friend whose eyes are wet and dim
Has all the world of need in him.
To love and serve I need not roam
Afar—the need is here, at home.

'BOB CORRIGAN' DOES BIT IN NAVY

Robert J. Corrigan of the Glendale Daily Press advertising department served during the world war in the United States navy. He enlisted in Chicago as a second-class seaman and was discharged as second-class storekeeper.

Soon after enlisting, Corrigan was sent to France and was told that he was to be a part of the naval battery. He was issued his complete outfit of O. D. clothes, but soon after arriving in France his O. D.'s were taken away from him and he returned to the navy blues. He was assigned to duty above the destroyer McDonough, rating as a second-class seaman.

Corrigan was on the destroyer four months and was then transferred to the destroyer minesweeping base No. 19 at Lorient, France. After two months' service at the base, he was transferred to the destroyer squadron No. 4, and was ordered ashore on Armistice Day, taking part in the monster parade. The town of Lorient was decorated for two days previous to the signing of the armistice.

Scenes in the city of Lorient were similar to Armistice Day scenes in other parts of France. The war-weary people aroused from their apathy of four years, celebrating with the enthusiasm that is seen but once in the life of a nation, and that is when it has passed the most critical time of its existence.

DERELYS PERDUE LATELY FOUND SCREEN BEAUTY

Derelys Perdue, newly discovered beauty of the screen, plays one of the leading feminine roles in "Daytime Wives," now showing at the Gateway Theater. Originally a dancer, she is rapidly winning a renown on the screen comparable to the widespread fame she enjoys as a dancer.

Miss Perdue was born in Kansas City, Mo. She began the study of dancing when only six years of age.

Miss Perdue came to Los Angeles four years ago after attaining national celebrity.

She arranged and supervised the big dancing episodes in Allen Holubar's "Man, Woman and Marriage," Rex Ingram's "Conquering Power," and Mack Sennett's "A Small Town Idol." She has danced and played important roles in many important productions but it was in 'The Bishop of the Ozarks" that she was given her first really big opportunity. She appeared as leading woman of the production. Miss Perdue's grandfather was one of the founders of Perdue University in Indiana.

MARJORIE DAW IN "GOING UP" AT THE GLENDALE

The old idea that women have no sense of humor must go into the discard, is the declaration of Marjorie Daw, screen leading woman who will be seen in support of Douglas McLean at the Glendale in "Going Up."

"The truth is that a woman will take a joke better than a man will," Miss Daw says. "It is the women Motion pictures, particularly those with a humorous turn, must appeal to milady. The American women make up the bulk of the photoplay fans. If an exhibitor has the women on his side he is sure of success.

"The women of America have developed a strong national self-consciousness. This is because they have long since risen to a plane where they all stand for certain basic ideals, and they co-operate, some socially and all mentally, with their sisters throughout the nation in developing these ideals. They have a width of interest and a vivacity of reasoning that is in many ways beyond the men. While they like comedy, they want it to be human. You can't make them laugh at a joke merely by labelling it 'joke.' They want to be shown.

HOPE HAMPTON DARING DANCER IN "GOLD DIGGERS"

People who have seen Miss Hope Hampton, the screen actress, dance on such occasions as private dances and balls, have invariably marveled at her unusual agility, nimble feet and sense of rhythm.

While playing the part of Jerry Lamar in "The Gold Diggers," her latest picture and a screen adaption of the noted David Belasco stage play, she was given a chance to demonstrate her dancing ability.

The dance, as finally filmed, with the picturesque mantilla of shining silk, the shimmering lacy shawl, the soft and dreamy Spanish atmosphere, with the dancer weaving a lovely design as she moves with swaying arms, is truly a picture of grace and a lesson in rythm.

ARMISTICE DAY SECTION

—Lest We Forget

NOVEMBER 11, 1918

Think back. Remember that memorable day—just five years ago—when the sun came over the horizon with an unexplainable new brightness? The heavens cleared and all the world breathed a sigh of relief. The war was over. Humanity had been saved. A new future loomed before us.

The tension of many long days of uncertainty had been loosened. Folks gave vent to their feelings. Smiles shone through their tears. Joy knew no bounds. VICTORY! Victory—well earned indeed—was ours.

So, to-day—the Fifth Anniversary of that never-to-be forgotten occasion—let's you and me, Mr. Glendale Citizen, turn our thoughts to those who made possible that great victory. Let's honor the lads who served with the colors—those lads who sacrificed all else that we might enjoy Peace, Liberty and the pursuit of Happiness to their fullest extent.

And when the eventful hour strikes—11 a.m.—let's doff our hats, face the east and give a silent prayer for those of our defenders who so unselfishly laid their lives on the altar of Patriotism for Humanity's sake. 'Tis but our bounden duty.

WONDER PLACE IS NEW GLENDALE COUNTRY CLUB

It's at 1120 South San Fernando Road and "One Swell Outfit"

Delicious food, unexcelled service and charming surroundings were the "high lights" of the pre-opening reception given last night by the management of the Glendale Country club to a number of the prominent residents of Glendale.

The formal opening of this establishment, which is located at 1120 South San Fernando road, will be held tonight between the hours of 5 and 12 o'clock.

In real service no "opening" event in Glendale has ever surpassed that of last night. Messrs. William Schneider and H. B. Devine, proprietors of the club, were present to extend the "glad hand" to their guests and in return those who attended are today singing the praises of the excellent entertainment provided by their hosts, who are past masters in the catering art. The ten-course repast, which Mr. Schneider declared was but a sample of the service that will be regularly provided, will long be remembered by those privileged to attend this event.

The following dinner menu was served: Assorted Canapes, Essence of Tomatoes aux Cuenelles, celery, olives, salted almonds, Filet of Sole, Tournedos, Bearnaise, new peas mint, Parisienne potatoes, Ris de Veau en Caisses, salad Coeur de Laitus, Souffle Hilds, Peche Melba, Friandises, Camambert, coffee.

Following the repast short talks complimentary of the cafe and the service and wishing the establishment success were given by a number of the guests, W. L. Twining presiding. Mr. Devine and Mr. Schneider thanked the speakers for their well wishes.

Those present were W. L. Truitt, B. V. Stone, H. C. Vandewater, E. C. Pendroy, Cam Thom, P. Perry, H. L. Miller, A. T. Cowan, W. L. Twining, Spence Robinson, W. D. Burton, L. H. Wilson, W. H. Reeves, P. Hanson, Walter Jones, Owen Emery, D. L. Gregg, E. F. Sander, A. J. Van Wie, J. E. Dupuy, C. H. Rich and Albert Marple of the Press.

The country club is pleasingly arranged and will appeal to the folks of Glendale. There is a main dining room, 20x50 feet, which will seat 50 with and 100 without dancing. It has beamed cealing, large fireplace, hardwood floors, Vienna furniture, etc.

To the south of this is the tea room which will seat thirty. There are windows all around this room, tile floor and reed furniture. It is intended for afternoon teas.

Also off the main dining room is the club room, intended for men's luncheons. It is 24x26 feet and has large panel buffet, golden drapes, wide wooden frieze and indirect lighting. It will seat 35.

An auxiliary dining room is 20x 20 feet and will seat 25. It has golden oak woodwork, golden drapes, rug-covered hardwood floor, indirect lighting, etc.

Upstairs there are three private dining rooms which are fitted up beautifully. The kitchen is 20x24 feet and is strictly up to the minute, and is equipped to handle a "capacity house." Eugene Meyer, the chef, arrived recently from Switzerland. He is thoroughly capable, having managed the kitchens of some of the largest cafes and hotels of England.

Throughout, the Glendale Country club is home-like. It is pleasing to the eye and restful. It is just the place Glendalians will want to go when they "eat out."

BROADWAY COMING INTO ITS OWN—IMPROVEMENTS ARE GOING ON RAPIDLY

East End to Be Lighted; West End to Be Widened and Improved With Electroliers; Rights-of-Way West of San Fernando Road Have Been Secured

By O. M. Newby, Realtor, 107 South Central Avenue

Every city of any consequence in our modern day has its Broadway.

Glendale, when it began to come out of its swadling clothes, some very few years ago, soon awoke to the fact that it, too, must have its Broadway.

There was only one street that could be logically selected for that name, and that was what used to be known as Fourth street. In selecting this street for the name, inasmuch as distance north and south were to be reckoned, naturally it should be as near to the center of the city as possible.

It should be wide, easy of access, and of note at time accepted. Broadway fills the bill more nearly than any other street in all these respects.

Now, since we have our Broadway, we should unite to make it what its name implies, a thoroughfare the whole city might be proud of. The owners of property on Broadway east of Glendale avenue, have opened it through to Colorado street, Eagle Rock, have paved it and are about to establish ornamental lighting standards east from Glendale avenue. When these improvements are completed it will be wide, well lighted and fully improved.

How about it from Central avenue, westward?

A few weeks ago the West Broadway Improvement association came into being to get behind a movement to bring this section of Broadway into its own. To accomplish various definite things this association is undertaking. Many good things are in prospect.

The first two things started were the widening and the lighting of that thoroughfare. The first steps in widening have been taken, and the matter is now with the city council. There is an assurance of an 80-foot street as far west as Pacific avenue, and there is a hope that the property owners west of Pacific—as far west as San Fernando road—will widen their section of the street.

The next definite thing to be accomplished is the ornamental lighting from Central avenue to the San Fernando road. The petitions for these lights have been circulated and the owners of a majority of the frontage are in favor of the lights. The design adopted is similar to those that will be installed on Central avenue and on Broadway, east from Glendale avenue.

The next move will be to extend Broadway to the Los Angeles river, to bridge the river and connect this thoroughfare up with the proposed Riverside Drive and Griffith Park. The wonderful future of Broadway can only be intimated.

The workers on the extension of Broadway west to the Los Angeles river have been assured of the extension 80 feet wide from San Fernando road alomst to the river. The securing of the additional rights of way and the construction of a bridge over the Los Angeles river is only a question of time.

By linking up with the Riverside Drive countless thousands of friends, neighbors and visitors will be brought through the very heart of Glendale. There is an elaborate program on for the improvement and advancement of West Broadway.

Watch West Broadway Grow.

A WOMAN'S PLEA FOR WORLD COURT TO BRING PEACE

In response to a communication received by the Tuesday Afternoon club from Mrs. Thos. Winters, president of the General Federation of Women's clubs and chairman of international relations of the general federation, requesting that Sunday, November 11, be observed as "Peace Day" and to have an article on this subject read by the club women in the churches throughout the city, such arrangements were made. Among the club women who had charge of seeing that an article called "A Woman's Plea" was read in the churches of Glendale were the following: Mrs. C. H. Toll, First Methodist; Mrs. Mattison B. Jones, First Bresbyterian; Mrs. C. E. Hutchinson, Central Christian; Mrs. C. W. Houston, Congregational; Mrs. E. W. W. Hayward, Baptist; Mrs. W. E. Evans, Episcopalian; Mrs. A. H. Montgomery, Tropico Presbyterian, and others.

The article follows:

This year Armistice Day falls upon the Lord's Day and in churches throughout the country women are pleading as Christians for a Christian world. Five years ago today the war-torn world rejoiced at the coming of peace. The hopes of millions of men and women ran high for a world peace, permanent and just.

We celebrate that day, but with confessions of failure and of sin. We have not achieved that peace, nor realized that justice. Deep hatreds and fears abide. Nations today still compete in preparing for war. Not only is war a bitter fruit of the tree of violence and hate, but also a root which strikes deep down into the soil of a competitive and unfriendly world.

In this world-problem and world-task none are more deeply concerned than women. It is we who supremely suffer and mourn when wars rage and sudden death destroys our youth.

But we are not without hope. Despite daily visions of disaster there is a power that can save us and the world.

"Repent and believe" was the good news brought by our Lord to men of old. But repentance must be for that whole system—a system to which we have contributed—that historic system of aggressive nationality and economic rivalry, which inevitably hurled one nation against another in a conflict for power, and which, if unrestrained, will hurl nations into war again.

We are urged to consider today the immediate practical step which America can take in helping to bring righteousness and peace.

Justice demands that no nation declare in the name of patriotism that in any dispute it shall be at once the judge, the party to action, and the executioner to carry out the sentence.

All over our land today as our pastors are preaching, men and women are thinking on the proposal of our late President that America become a member of the World Court of Justice. The great women's organizations of our country have endorsed this proposal and are earnestly promoting it, and today we are called to a new service for peace and justice.

As women in our own homes we have striven to be impartial, kind and constructive; so in the national world we ask that to each nation be given its rights, that the weak be protected against the strong and especially that in place of selfish greed and savage resort to brute force, there be a spirit of mutual goodwill, each cinsidering the rights and needs of all. A warless world can be based only on impartial justice.

Women believe that the ethics of the home should have universal sway. For this reason we welcome the proposal of our late President that America become a member of the World Court of Justice, and thus take its part as a nation in extending Christian ethics to the great family of nations.

This day has been named World Court Sunday, not only in order that today we may think about the World Court and what it may mean for the world, but also in order that today each of us shall act in the practical way now needful to help make the World Court a real power in the world.

Before this day closes, will not every woman in this church—and every man too—write a personal letter to President Coolidge and to our United States Senators? The letters need not be long, but they must earnestly plead that America should become a member of the World Court. The Senators and the President can decide aright for the people of the United States only when we, the people let them know in no uncertain voice what we want. This is our duty today.

We know that the World Court and America's membership in it will not alone end war. But we also know that the Court and each nation's membership in it are steps to bring peace and justice to a hungry, weary, warring world.

Will you have faith in His name and help bring to all nations that more abundant life for which He gave His own? Will you do your part? Will you pray? Will you act?

INCREASE IN GAS METERS PUT IN SHOWS GROWTH

Sidney C. Singer, manager of the Southern California Gas company for this district which includes the San Fernando valley, has some interesting statistics on file which demonstrate, as they have in the past, the rapid and continued growth of Glendale.

He figures from new installations of meters the past six months that the population of Glendale is now not less than 45,000.

The meter list now totals $10,544. Six months ago it was 9,506. The gas company has found that on the average, every installation increases the population 4.3. Applying that basis of reckoning Glendale would today have a population of 45,339 and coming strong.

Mr. Singer says the records of the company show two peaks of minor one reached in June, and a maximum peak in November, with a decline in the rate of increase during the summer months which are considered the slow ones in the business. His figures for the past six months run as follows:

May, increase 145.
June, increase 196.
July, increase 139
Aug., increase 144
Sept., increase 203
Oct., increase 214

November, he declares will go higher. Last November the increase totaled 220, while in December the increase was only 123. However, he does not expect that decline in the rate of increase to hold good this year because all signs point to a heavier influx of population than ever. Based on preliminary reservations, the railroads are predicting heavy travel to this coast and other factors are combining to bring a constant overflow from Los Angeles.

Mr. Singer says he looks for a boom in the Glendale Avenue district due to the improved transportation facilities which the extension of the Glendale-Montrose line will provide and this will increase population.

Also, if Glendale secures a bridge across the Los Angeles river which will give it direct access to Griffith Park, it will attract many people who desire to live near enough to have the privileges of the park but who cannot do so within the confines of Los Angeles without having a home too expensive for the average man to afford.

The manager pointed out that Glendale has no monopoly on rapid growth, that Burbank is increasing at nearly the same rate, and so is Downey. In the city last named oil development is said to be the prime factor, but it is not as stable a population as that of a city like Glendale which has no big industries and which has been selected because residents wish to live here and most of them own their homes.

The company has just finished the laying of gas mains in the Bellehurst Tract and has completed the Sparr Heights and Montrose main laying. It is now at work in La Crescenta where it will stop until the growth of Tujunga and other territory beyond justifies the investment that will be required to lay mains to those points. The bringing of gas to La Crescenta has been a great impetus to that community.

CAPT. T. D. WATSON TELLS OF DOING ABROAD

Does Billeting and Other Duties During the War

CAPT. T. D. WATSON.

"France went wild when the news of the signing of the armistice was received," said Captain Thomas D. Watson, who served as an officer in the eighth infantry of the eighth division in France throughout a big portion of America's participation in the war. "The people were at a loss to show the joy that was in their hearts.

"On the night of November 10 the Parisians received word that the armistice was signed, to take effect on the morning of the 11th at 11 o'clock. Immediately the joy of the people was beyond control. A premature celebration was held, but the real celebration was reserved for the following day.

"At 11 o'clock, when the armistice became effective, every man, woman and child quit work and a monster parade was organized. Americans were hailed as deliverers and were forced to join the parade and succeeding festivities. The whole celebration was thrilling. It was wonderful to see the citizens of Paris, who had lived in daily fear of their beautiful city falling into the hands of the German foeman for the past four years, throw aside their fears and enter into the spirit of celebration.

"The most thrilling and inspiring sight, however, was at night, when all of the lights of the city that, before the war, had been one of the best illuminated cities in the world, but had for the past four years been a city of darkness, burst suddenly into a blaze of light that reminded one of fairyland come true.

"When darkness fell over the city it remainded dark for a while and then at a signal every light was turned on. The effect was wonderful and people who had for four years borne only an expression of patient sadness, werew reathed with smiles. While some were smiling and shouting with joy, there were others who wept at the sight of their beloved Paris, for so long a city of darkness, ablaze with lights and the citizens celebrating with all their old-time spirit and enthusiasm multiplied a hundredfold."

Captain Watson was sent to France as a lieutenant of the eighth regiment of the eighth division, on October 18, 1918, making the trip across the "pond" on the Leviathan, formerly the Vaterland, the largest ship afloat at that time.

Before sailing for France as a billeting officer for the 62nd regiment, Lieutenant Watson was at Camp Lewis, training recruits in the 364th infantry. When he was assigned to the 62nd regiment, he and two other officers were sent to France, as a billeting detail in advance of the division.

The 62nd infantry was held in the United States and Lieutenant Watson was transferred to the eighth regiment when he was detailed to duty as billeting officer. He was placed in charge of five towns, having his headquarters in Jonzac, where he was town major and responsible for the billeting of troops and for any property damage done by the troops.

When General Helmick, commander of Lieutenant Watson's division was placed in charge of the port of debarkation at Brest, his regiment was sent to that port. Lieutenant Watson remained at Jonzac to settle all claims the French might have against the American troops. When all claims were settled Lieutenant Watson took a motorcycle sidecar and went to Bordeaux, where he remained until November 8. On that date he went to Paris, arriving there on the morning of November 10.

On November 12, Capt. Watson, then ranking as a lieutenant, returned to Brest and was put in charge of organizing casual companies as commanding officer. At one time he had direct charge of more than 1700 men. On July 23, 1919, Captain Watson left France for the United States on the steamer Mt. Vernon, another ship formerly owned by Germany but confiscated by the United States. He was discharged on September 1, 1919, at the Presidio near San Francisco.

M. & L. Bootery Has More Than Made Good Here

J. E. McClellan of the M. & L. Bootery has just purchased a fine new home from J. A. Endicott, at 630 W. Wilson, and is one of Glendales most ardent boosters. "We have done a wonderful business since we started six months ago here in Glendale," says Mr. McClellan, "and are grateful for the way the people have patronized our shoe store, showing us that the high class absolutely new style M. & L. Bootery specializing in womens and childrens shoes only and showing the latest in high grade footwear featuring quality, perfect fitting, and right prices, has been a long needed want in Glendale. We are now figuring on an additional Bootery, number 2, to take care of our many customers we have gained since our opening here in Glendale, carrying a stock with sizes to fit the most difficult feet and showing all the latest styles.

"Above all we want the ladies of Glendale to realize that if they will only give us the opportunity to display our shoes to them there will be no further need to buy footwear anywhere else.

LEGION AIMS AND PURPOSES TOLD

"For God and country, we associate ourselves for the following purposes:

"To uphold and defend the constitution of the United States of America; to maintain law and order; to foster and perpetuate 100 per cent Americanism; to preserve the memories and incidents of our association in the great war; to inculcate a sense of individual responsibility to the community, state and nation; to combat the autocracy of both the classes and the masses; to make right the master of might; to promote peace and good will on earth; to safeguard and transmit to posterity the principles of justice, freedom and democracy; to consecrate and sanctify our companionship by our devotion to mutual helpfulness."

The legion has purposes, policies or activities which are not covered by this preamble. The American Legion stands for service—service to the ex-service man and service to the country.

The legion was born of a meeting of the general staff of the A. E. F. in Paris, February 16, 1918. This meeting was adjourned to meet in caucus at St. Louis, Mo., April 8, 9 and 10, 1919. The organization was perfected at this caucus and the first convention was held in Minneapolis, Minn., November 9, 10 and 11, 1919.

Since that time the organization has grown very rapidly. A magnificent legion home has been erected in Indianapolis, that is a monument to the spirit of the American soldier, to which all things are possible.

Glendale post No. 127 of the American Legion has 175 members.

At the first convention of the legion held in Minneapolis the organization renewed the drive against all slackers and deserters from the American army and was responsible for thousands of these being brought to justice. The education of the aliens who subscribed to American principals and the deportation of those who refused to do so was urged at that convention.

The so-called "Gentlemen's Agreement" with Japan came under fire at the convention and the abrogation of this agreement was asked. The adjusted compensation plan was espoused by the legion at that time and universal military training was advocated, and a plea made to abolish the large army in time of peace.

At the second convention of the organization held in Cleveland, government agencies were condemned for their falure to deport slackers from America and advocated the publishing of the names of all slackers and deserters. Japanese exclusion from America was favorably voted upon and plans for the aiding of disabled veterans were discussed.

The district and department meetings of the legion have done much in the matter of re-employment of veterans and having them reinstated in their pre-war positions.

The service division has attended to the matter of adjusting compensation for the veterans, vocational training, caring for the war risk insurance, allotments and Liberty bonds. This service is extended to all disabled veterans of the world war, whether they are members of the legion or not. Another important work that is being done by the service division is the looking after of the hospitalization of disabled veterans. Complaints regarding the treatment of veterans in hospitals have been investigated and when improvements were needed the legion ordered such improvements made and saw to it that they were made.

The legislative committee of the legion secured the passage of the Sweet bill, carrying with it an appropriation of $90,000,000 to raise the compensation of disable veterans from $30 to $90 per month. This committee has secured $90,000,000 for the vocational training of veterans of the world war and secured $125,000,000 for death and disability compensations.

Through the efforts of the legislative committee the court martial laws of the United States have been improved to a great extent. Ex-service men have been accorded first choice in civil service positions and have had 30,000 acres of land thrown open to them for homesteading in Arizona. The committee has also had the fourfold Fordney compensation bill passed through the house of representatives along with the Mason bill, and the war risk insurance adjustments.

The work of fostering Americanism is carried on by the entire legion acting as a body and attending to the work of Americanism of the immigrant to America, and the routing of bolshevism. Work such as this is undertaken by the American Legion and Glendale post No. 127 is doing is share in the work. The former service man is assisted wherever it is possible, whether he is a member of the legion or not.

They Did Not Die in Vain

LINCOLN WAS WRONG WHEN HE SAID: "The world will soon forget what we say today," when he made his celebrated Gettysburg speech, honoring the brave heroes of the Civil War.

THE WORLD DID NOT FORGET WHAT HE SAID, and the world did not forget the heroes who wore the Blue and the Gray in our civil strife. Today the men who wore the Blue and the Gray are walking hand in hand down the long, long trail to the mystery over yonder. They have forgotten, but the world has not forgotten their valor, for they fought for what they thought was a righteous settlement of their differences.

ALL OVER THIS BRIGHT, SUNNY CALIFORNIA, and from the Atlantic to the Pacific, the memory of our heroes will be honored, and the multitudes will drop flowers over their graves or silently shed tears for the boy who never came back, and a grateful people will pause long enough to honor and reverence their deeds of valor. We will not forget the boys who gave their lives, nor will we forget those who offered to give their lives to prevent the soldiers of the greatest tyrant of all times from invading our homes and putting the yoke of Autocracy around our necks.

ALL HAIL THE HEROES OF AMERICA! All the mothers, wives and sisters of the World War heroes. Freedom in America did not perish. The World War heroes made America safe for Americans —and the home of the Free.

THIS MESSAGE OF APPRECIATION is respectfully dedicated to the Heroes of the World War by the following patriotic business men and firms of Glendale who will close their places of business on ARMISTICE DAY in honor of the greatest body of men the world has produced — the American Soldiers of the World War!

Major Richard S. Buck Opposes the Proposed Bonus to Ex-Soldiers

Frederick Palmer Takes Strenuous Issue to Statement That "No Man Deserves Credit, Praise of Reward for Fighting for His Country"

WOULD GIVE NO CHEERS TO SOLDIERS

In American Legion Weekly Palmer, a Prominent Writer, Picks to Pieces Assertions Made by Buck in Pamphlet Knocking Bonus

The following article was written by Frederick Palmer, and printed in the American Legion Weekly. It is worth repeating:

Major Richard S. Buck, national director of the Ex-service Men's Anti Bonus league (membership fee, $1), is ending out a pamphlet in which he declares that the majority of veterans are against adjusted compensation and that the demand for it is being made by a "small, though militant, minority of the nation."

If this is true he should have no worries. Not to mention contributions to his crusade from war profiteers and other heavy taxpayers, one dollar each from that "sleeping majority" which he would awaken would amount to more than two million dollars. He will have a fund which will insure the fullest hearing for the league before congress against advocates of adjusted compensation who lack funds.

"No man deserves credit, praise or reward for fighting for his country," say the Major's pamphlet.

This means no cheers for the full ranks that march out to war or for the thinned and weary ranks which return. The wounded man gets the same reception as the slacker.

"To do so (to fight for his country) is an inherent duty," the pamphlet continues, "a fundamental obligation of citizenship. Any young, able-bodied man who would not fulfil the obligation is entitled to no consideration and is unworthy of citizenship."

That sounds better. It is the principle of the Legion. It was the principle of the men in uniform. They did not think of credit, praise or reward when they went to the training camps.

This, however, was not true of all able-bodied young men. If all those who did not willingly fulfil that obligation, or tried to escape it, were deprived of their citizenship we should have to count many less votes in the next presidential election.

Some of them did think of a reward and they made sure to get it while the war was on. The major would have these keep their reward and not share their gains with any of those absent-minded ones who did not think of a reward.

He passes lightly over the subject of war profiteers, whom he would leave to suffer from their stricken consciences without any diminution of their bank accounts. But here is news for you, buddy. He includes among the profiteers one-fifth of the men who were in uniform. One-fifth is the number who could not read, write and speak English.

Counting food, clothes, quarters and medical attendance included with his minimum of 30 dollars a month, the major estimates that "any soldier who earned less than 18 dollars a week before the war was paid higher wages in the army than in civilian life."

"As the earning power of the men so handicapped—"meaning the ignorant one-fifth—"was probably below 18 dollars a week before the war, there is no just basis for the claim that 'adjusted compensation' is due the 100 per cent able-bodied of this class."

This class! Here I glance again at the known names on the list of backers of the Anti-Bonus league, which are impressively printed on the league's letterhead. They would have more than 18 dollars a week if they had to depend only on the income from their investments.

The compensation which they would receive from the proposed legislation is immaterial to them. They are thinking in terms of the taxes they have to pay. All are educated and prosperous, and some inherited money. I am poor compared to them, but I do not need a "bonus." I am asking if it is just that others should have it.

This class! We did not hear much about "class" when we talked honor and glory to bring men into the fighting ranks. However ignorant this class was, its members, out of uniform, could have received ten dollars a day as unskilled labor.

Included among those who had a high percentage of illiteracy were the southern mountaineers of the 30th division that helped break the Hindenburg line. In their region school facilities were poor. Was this their fault, or partly the fault of those who regard them as belonging to "this class?" Your fault and mine—the country's fault.

They struggled hard for livelihood upon poor acres. They could claim to be American if any of us can. Their ancestors fought under Washington and Lee. But they did not depend upon their ancestors to carry the Hindenburg line for them. Character counted there. If scholarship helps men to fight well, then only a vivid imagination can picture what they would have done if they all had college educations.

From economics the major turns to ideals. If anyone thinks in terms of money it is always sagacious, if his record shows him to be susceptible on that point—the war profiteers are not—to remind him that money is dross and no real idealist will ever think in such material terms. The major insists that we must not consider what other countries have done. We must not look across the border at Canada, which has long since adjusted compensation for her veterans.

"Our problems are our own," he says, "and we must solve them in the light of our ideals and by our own standards of citizenship or forever cease to consider ourselves leaders in world of thought or action" Again I look at that list of backers. This appeal is of the same kind that came from the same quarters as against the first proposition of an income tax as being "monarchial," alien to our constitution and to our ideals.

The ideals of Canada, which has done what this big country has not done in justice to her veterans, are good enough for me. So are the ideals of "this class" of Canadians who fought in France and of which the enemy has bitter memory. They are the same ideals as those of our men, ideals that make the two countries live in peace as neighbors.

The principle of adjusted compensation is this. In a fire we must have a man at the pump. It is even more important to have firemen to fight the flames. After this world fire when the firemen returned they found that the man at the pump had been having a relatively comfortable time and getting ten times their pay. It seems fair that they should have a little readjustment of this difference made by a rich community.

Major Buck has made a bold statement in declaring that the majority of ex-service men are against adjusted compensation. It is true? Is it to be allowed to go unchallenged? The men of the legion know the men in their neighborhoods who were in uniform. Are they in favor of compensation or not? Let us have a count of heads.

With one of the major's points I wholly agree. He says: "A cause is right or wrong in priciple regardless of who may advocate or who may oppose it." So I shall come back to this issue with some ideals and principles which the major has overlooked.

Rev. W. E. Edmonds Talks About God's Dependableness

At the morning service of the Glendale Presbyterian church the message was brought by Rev. W. E. Edmonds, the pastor, who spoke on "The Dependableness of God." The sermon was based on 2 Cor. 1:20-22, "For in Him is the yes that confirms all the promises of God." (Moffatt translation).

Rev. Edmonds said that there is no quality more valuable than dependableness. In the business world it is a pearl of great price. While dependableness is not a saving quality it should certainly be well up on the ladder of Christian graces.

Paul, in this passage, is bringing out the great spiritual truth that at all times and under all circumstances God can be depended on. Paul had promised to visit the Corinthian church and then had been unable to weep his promise. His enemies challenged his dependableness. They ascribed the same uncertainty to the message he had brought to them. The word of God was brought into question. Would God make good His promises? Can a man today turn over his affairs to God? Can a man put his business on a Golden Rule basis absolutely? "Him that honoreth me I will honor." God's promise is at stake. In Christ the "yes" affirms all the promises of God.

God never forgets His word. Back in the ages He promised a Redeemer. Man waited 4000 years. It was most surely fulfilled in the fullness of time. He was born of a virgin. His name was called Jesus. He promised Abraham the land of promise as his inheritance. After 400 years of trial at last came possession. He promised Jeremiah that after 70 years the captives would return from Babylon. God made good His promise to the very hour. To every Hebrew we say, Jesus Christ is His Messiah, the literal fulfillment of Daniel, even to the exact date. He promised the Holy Spirit. When the day of Pentecost was fully come the Holy Spirit came in wondrous power. There are just as true promises to every individual believer. "Heaven and earth shall pass away but my word shall not pass away." God has promised that His Son shall return to earth. We know not the day nor the hour of His return. In such an hour as we think not God's prophetic clock will strike and He will come again.

Notice the variety of the promises. All means not only universal but particular. They number more than 40,000. Though they are great in number and variety every one is of sterling gold. He makes good every one of them. You can depend on God.

God has guaranteed His promises. They are promises from His great check book and every one endorsed by the great Mediater, Jesus Christ. His word and honor are pledged to their fulfillment. He fulfilled the conditions of redemption and receives in return all the promises of God. He fulfilled the covenant and now for His sake and in His name we claim everyone of them just as fully as if we had fulfilled the conditions ourselves. Here is something worth while. God cannot lie, He cannot go back upon His word or He would cease to be God.

Note the great climax. Continuance and permanence are needd to complete this picture of security. How long will it last? He has given us the earnest or pledge of future payment, a guarantee that the full expectation will be realized. The complete inheritance is yet ahead. You can depend on God. He will abundantly fulfill every promise. Receive by faith what He has promised. Believe His word and act accordingly. Faith saves. According to your faith be it unto you.

Curing your Golf Troubles

By Jim Barnes

Dear Sir: Would you mind giving me a few pointers along the following lines on putting? Do you recommend that the feet be kept close together in the putting stance? Should the ball be hit low or nearer the top to give it overspin? As between an aluminum type and a steel type of putter, which is likel yto be more suited to the average golfer?

P. R. S.

Answer: The matter of a putting stance is purely one of personal choice. You can assume any position you like so long as you keep your head still and don't sway your body. Personally I place my feet quite wide apart, but I know good putters who stand with the feet quite close together.

Unless a player is quite expert in handling a putter, my recommendation to him is to try to hit the ball about the center. He will need to play less attention to just where he is hitting, if he practices hitting it there. I am convinced the average player will do his game more harm than good by trying to hit the ball high so as to impart overspin.

As between an aluminum putter and a steel, or cleek, type, I believe the average player will find the former a little more trustworthy. There is possibly a little more "feel" in it, which will help him to swing it more freely instead of stabbing the stroke. On the other hand, I think the cleek type is a somewhat more adaptable tool in the hands of a good putter.

As a matter of fact there is little to hcoose between them. A good putter will putt well with either, and neither will make a good putter of a poor one. Select a club that seems to feel all right to you, and then put in as much time as you can practicing with it. That will probably help you more than anything else.

Glendale and Colorado Property Has Advanced Greatly in the Past Year

Only by "Harking Back" Can One Realize the Wonderful Progress That Has Been Made by Those Important East Side Highways

ELECTRIC LINE IS NOW BEING CONSTRUCTED

Property Values Have Known Steady Growth; There Has Been No Boom; Improvement of Glendale to Start Soon; Both Thoroughfares to Be Lighted

By Miss Edith May Unwin, with Dutton the Home Fynder, 308 South Brand

Let us call back the days of a few short years ago when Colorado Blvd. property was selling for $40 per front foot, then come over to Glendale Ave. and recall the faithful old 7:30 morning freight that held us up daily on the way to make our daily bread in Los Angeles. It will all be ancient history in a very short time, with a wider, and more built up Colorado Blvd. Take a drive out Colorado, look over the new buildings, then go back in two months, you will think your eyes are deceiving you. The new stores will give you an idea of what the thinking folk of Glendale look for.

We all know that Glendale avenue will be the main artery of travel from the south to all the various communities in the La Crescenta valley. Wonderful activity in the way of building and reality sales are going on right now in the La Cresenta district. All of this means new residents. When these new comers want to go to and from Los Angeles they will naturally take the shortest and the best route. When Glendale avenue has been improved there will be nothing in the way of a highway between La Cresenta valley and Los Angeles than can compare to Glendale, which thoroughfare will naturally catch all of this traffic,—and traffic means business.

Everything points to the early commencement of the improvement work on Glendale avenue from Monterey road south to Cerritos avenue. The National Paving company, which will furnish the material for the top coating of this street, has succeeded in leasing a piece of property for its treating plan on the west side of the city and the machinery for this plant is now arriving and being assembled. It is understood that Peter L. Ferry, who was awarded the general contract for the work, is about ready to go in connection with the actual construction work.

Along with the improvement of Glendale avenue will come the establishment of the ornamental lighting system. This will be of two-light steel standard of the very latest design.

The electrification of the Union Pacific company's steam line that runs along Glendale is not the least of the improvement features that are scheduled for that street. The line will be completed and in operation by the first of the year, according to an announcement made by P. L. Hatch, manager of the Glendale-Montrose Railway company, which is working in conjunction with the Union Pacific in the electrification of this line.

The freight locomotive for this line arrived in Glendale last Friday morning and the passenger cars are expected to reach this city within a few days. The poles for the wires are already in place and the wires are being strung at this time along the lower end of the line.

Glendale avenue and Colorado have been coming slowly to the front. The time for their arrival is at hand. There is nothing in the nature of a boom on Glendale avenue. The advancement has been steady and sure and the advancement of prices and values of property have kept pace with the growth of that street.

Dutton the Home Fynder of 308 S. Brand Blvd. reports that his office at Colorado and Glendale Ave. is in a position to prove what is happening in that vicinity. The first three days of November showed escrows to the amount of $32,295 from the Colorado & Glendale office alone. There is also a deal now under way for a $60,000 piece of Colorado Blvd property. It is said that the new owner will do some surprising things.

When a far sighted business man picks a corner for an office, then outgrows it in a short time, builds a larger one only two blocks away, and carries on a successful business in both, there cannot be much doubt as to the future of these two streets. Dutton did this very thing.

Rehearsals For "Oh-Ho" Wlil Open Tomorrow, Sure

With the cast of sixty participants all filled, active rehearsals for the big musical show, "Oh-Ho" will be under way on Tuesday. Rehearsals are to be held at the Tuesday Afternoon club house, where the production, itself, will be given early in December.

Mrs. A. H. Montgomery, chairman of the "Oh-Ho" show committee is most happy with the progress that has been made with this production, and predicts that this show wil make a mark rarely equalled with local talent society shows in Glendale.

John Reber, director of the production, is in personal charge of the show here, as he has been in all the big "Oh-Ho" presentations throughout California. Mr. Reber is most pleased with the talent of Glendale, and believes he will have a showing here that will surpass any of the "Oh-Ho" productions seen in Southern California.

A bevy of thirty of the most beautiful and popular of the girls of the younger set will take part in the spectacular dances of the show, while as many jazzy young men will put over the rapid-fire college stuff with a bang. The cast of leads is drawn from the best musical and comedy talent of our city, all well known to local audiences.

From the rise of the curtain on the Fraternity House scene in the first act to the final ensemble of the campus scene of Act II, "Oh-Ho" is said to be alive with good clean comedy, and twenty-four whistly musical numbers, everything aimed to entertain.

A Chicago psychologist who has studied the relation of colors to courtship warns the girls of that city not to wear red on a date night nor to entertain their best young man in a room in which red predominates, declaring that it irritates eligible young man. Blue is said to have a soothing effect and to naturally "lead him on" in a nice way. It is pronounced "disarming," and the girl in blue is generally credited with a better disposition than if she were dressed in red or green.

John R. Quinn of California, New Commander of American Legion, with Wife After His Election

This photograph was made as the cheering was dying away after announcement had been made at the Legion's national convention at San Francisco that Quinn had been elected national commander. He was born near Portersville, Calif., and is a graduate of the University of California. He served as a captain of field artillery in France.

Watch East Colorado:

The past few months has seen East Colorado rise from an obscure street to one of the busiest thoroughfares in Glendale. From an unknown it has taken its place "among those present." The widening of that thoroughfare will put it on the map "for keeps."

Business houses have, during the past few months, sprung up all along Colorado. The proprietors of these stores are wide awake business men—they are live wires. They are selling at prices that are right and they are therefore getting the business. With their "ears to the rail" they can see that East Colorado is destined to be the leading cross-town business thoroughfare in Glendale.

The merchants on East Colorado can prove beyond a doubt that in their places of business "your dollars go further."

WORLD PEACE BODY ORGANIZED IN 1921

Looking Backward on Activity for Better Relations Between Nations

Looking backward on the work f organizing of the Association for World Peace—

Glendale was well represented at he Association for World Peace hat was organized Wednesday, November 9, 1921, at the City club in Los Angeles. Represntatives of the 24 political, religious, educational, industrial, civic and social organizations were present and addresses were made by representative men.

J. H. Braley, well known resident of this city, was among the number. Messages of approval were read from Senator Hiram Johnson, Congressman Osborne, Secretary of Labor Davis and other government officials.

R. W. Hadden, founder of the organization, in a stirring address declared that after the demonstration we have had of the money people are willing to spend for the support of war, we cannot decently refuse to dig down into our pockets and spend a few dollars for the purpose of bringing peace and happiness to a war-sick world.

G. Bromley Oxnam, pastor of the Church of All Nations, who was the chief speaker at the school of religious education inaugurated at the First Methodist church of this city, was one of the speakers at the peace meeting and brought to it the endorsement of all the churches of Los Angeles.

A decision was reached to make Washington the national headquarters of the association and to establish branches throughout the country. An executive obard of 11 members was elected, this including four members from Glendale—Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Braley, Arthur Cotter and Mrs. Charles H. Toll.

Mlle Lucienne D'Hotelle, famous flower girl of the Rue de la Paix in Paris, is selling flowers in the daytime and dancing on the stage at night to support her aged mother, whom the war made penniless.

L. H. Wilson Is Building Three More Business Blocks for Late Arrivals

Booster and Builder of the San Fernando Road Section Is Up to His Old Tricks; He Isn't Happy Unless He Is Building Something

SALE OF SEVERAL PROPERTIES REPORTED

Three Gorgeous Electric Signs Will Announce the Existence of Wilson & Burton, One of the Livest Realty Firms in San Fernando Valley

The San Fernando road commercial section is being given a real boost by the construction of three business structures by L. H. Wilson on that thoroughfare just west of Pacific. The total cost of these will be $42,000, and all of them will be completed within the next 60 days. These three structures, along with the others that have been bulit in that locality by Mr. Wilson will be constant reminders of the enterprise of one of the greatest boosters and "actual doers" that Glendale has ever known. When Mr. Wilson stepped into Glendale he rolled up his sleeves and set to work—and he has never rolled them down again.

The first of these buildings is 50x90 feet in size. It is one-story and has been leased by C. H. Arbenz, who has established a one-day automobile painting establishment. This building is costing $12,000.

The second building, which has also been leased by Mr. Arbenz, is 50x90 feet in size and is one story, with basement. T' cost of this building will be about $13,000.

The third building, which is at the west end of the string, will be 50x90 feet and will be two-story. The lower floor of this establishment will be divided into several rooms, while the upper floor will be given entirely to a hall.

Five offices are now being conducted by the firm of Wilson & Burton. Three of these are conducted jointly by the two operators, there being one each at La Crescenta, Hollywood and the center of Central and San Fernando.

Mr. Wilson's private office is located at 1034 South San Fernando road, where he has been located for several years.

The private office of Mr. Burton is situated at 200½ East Broadway.

While on the subject of sales, Mr. Wilson reported this morning that his office had closed the following deals during the past few days:

The corner of San Fernando and Magnolia to H. L. Dooling of Los Angeles for $14,000. This lot is in the form of a triangle, being 60 feet on San Fernando road and 100 feet on Magnolia.

A lot between Garfield and Park, 50x126 feet, to Chief A. H. Lankford for $7,250.

Another lot between Magnolia and Palmer, 50x124 feet, to Elizabeth Gentry of Hollywood for $6,750.

R. H. Baker, proprietor of the Sanitary Sewerage Disposal company, has just leased a lot on Garfield south of San Fernando road, and Mr. Wilson has already constructed a temporary building on the property for this firm.

Another lot on Garfield south of San Fernando road has been leased to O. R. Sallender and O. Raifsmider of Los Angeles, who are establishing a paint manufacturing concern. A temporary building was constructed by Mr. Wilson for this firm.

The fact that Wilson & Burton are on earth will hereafter be heralded to the public by three mammoth electric signs. Two are on the building at Park and Brand and the other is on top of the Wilson block, corner Central and San Fernando.

PASSING OF THE WORTHLESS DOG

It is evident that the dog problem is not confined to Glendale. In a recent periodical Ellis Parker Butler tells of seeing his fondest hopes decay through the vicious activities of a neighbor's dog and concludes his article with the following hopeful prophecy for the future:

"Some day there is going to be a great uprising against worthless dogs. There will be posters pasted on all the walls calling all who have suffered from worthless dogs to meet at a great mass meeting to take action on this important matter, and there will be a huge parade headed by the United Association of Home-Grown Radish Producers, the Amateur Aster Growers' Union No. 7, the Sideyard Flower-bed Planters' society and the American Garbage Can Protective association. There will be papers read on "The Loose-flowing Unmuzzled Child Biter," "The Unleashed Rabies Distributor," "The Unlicensed Gutter-pup" and "What Shall We Do to Unsnarl the Snarling Cur." I will make a humorous speech on "Dogs I Have Chased," in which my bitter bile will be carefully hidden in laugh-provoking phrases, after which one of the "horrible example" dogs that have been tied on the platform will probably bite me on the leg.

All this will be preliminary to the real work of the meeting, which will have been carefully planned in advance. After we sore heads have fired our ammunition a respectable citizen, the owner of a good dog, will get up and say a few words. He will say he believes in dogs and owns a dog himself, but that he sees the time has come for those who really love dogs and want them to be permitted to exist in a civilized land to do something about the menace of worthless dogs that now threaten the right of any dog to exist.

"Fellow citizens," he will say, "you and I, who own worth-while dogs, are the only people who are going to do anything to end this hideous state of affairs. Unless we act, and act quickly, our towns and counties and states will pass laws doing away with dogs entirely. They will be forced to do this by those who are weary of worthless dogs. Those who do not own dogs won't care what happens to dogs; those who own worthless dogs won't care what happens to dog; only we who own the right kind of dogs are sufficiently interested in dog preservation to protect the dog, and we can do so only by a united effort to rid America quickly, and once for all, of 'no count' dogs. In this, I am happy to state, we have the promised assistance of every association of dog breeders and of every breeder of worth-while dogs. Up to now we have had nothing but talk; I move now that we go into executive session, and I bet something will happen!"

I'll bet it would, too. I'll bet we would have fewer and better dogs. I'll bet the laws against unleashed and unmuzzled dogs would be enforced. I'll bet more people would have good dogs and fewer would have worthless dogs. I'll bet that in a short time we would hear of a new breed of dog—the Non-skid, Non-garden-digging, non-child-biting, Non-rabies-having, Non-yowling canine. Yes, sir, I'll bet you! But I won't bet much.

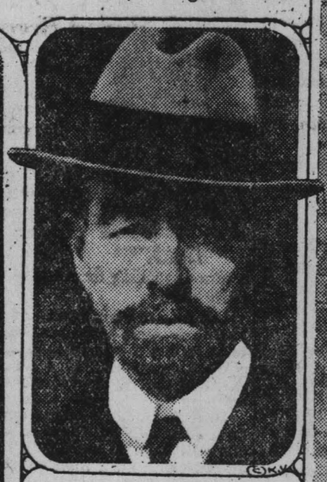
TRIUMPHANT TURKS—Fez-bedecked Moslems swarm streets, roofs and every other available spot in Constantinople to witness return of Mustapha Kemal Pasha's soldiers to the Golden Horn. The heroes were greeted with wild acclaim as they paraded under triumphal arches. The departure of allied troops that had controlled the city since the armistice was coincident with the arrival of the Turks.

U. S. ARMY—Aids D. W. Griffith, famous motion picture producer, in his new super-movie, "America." Photo shows Griffith discussing filming of scenes with Col. J. Hamilton Hawkins, commandant at Fort Meyer, Va., where scenes were taken. On horseback is Major Jonathan Wainwright, who led cavalry charge for one "shot."

MIGHTY HUNTRESS—Is Mrs. Ollie Ward of Saranac Lake, N. Y., a mere slip of a woman. That she handles a heavy gun like a master nimrod is proved by this photo, which shows her with a 248-pound buck she shot recently.



HEAD—Of the house of Vanderbilt, Gen. Cornelius Vanderbilt, returns from extended visit with relatives and friends in Europe.

THEME FOR JAMES OLIVER CURWOOD NOVEL—Furnished by these playmates owned by Miss Myrtle Pardon of Bainbridge, Ga. The dog and fox, raised together, are sweethearts. They share the same dinner plate and quarters. You really shouldn't be looking just now as they exchange greetings.

FRIENDSHIP—Between Great Britain and the United States pledged by Premier Stanley Baldwin (left) and Ambassador Harvey (right) at recent Pilgrims' dinner given in London. Many notables were present.

SWEET — Are the uses of adversity. Gen. Seliveroff, once commander of an infantry division of the Russian czar's army, now earns his living selling papers in Belgrade. He is said to earn $2,000 a year and "would not trade the peace and contentment of his new vocation for a saber carrying job."

MAKING MONKEYS OUT OF VEGETABLES—Cabbage plants in Columbia university laboratory are fooled by powerful electric lights and grow without sunlight. Tests with the artificial light have shown that the plants can be made to grow more rapidly that way than in the sunlight.

STAR OF "RAIN"—Will brave deluge of grocery bills and umbrella gifts and marry, she says. Miss Jeanne Eagels, beautiful actress who made hit as Sadie Thompson in play mentioned, announces she will wed Whitney Warren, Jr., scion of prominent New York family. They met in a theatrical producer's office.

HIS AMERICAN MOTHER'S ESTATE—Brings Lord Francis Venables-Vernon and Lady Venables-Vernon from England to New York. He has been appointed by the New York supreme court to take charge of extensive property belonging to the mother, the dowager Lady Vernon, who now lives in retirement in Pau, France, but is American-born. The lord is a captain in the royal navy.

BUILDING A TUNNEL

Los Angeles desired a tunnel through the hill at Second street. There was urgent need of such an outlet to relieve congestion. A contract was let, completion of the work stipulated to be at a certain date. The date arrived with the construction only fairly begun. There has been extension after extension. The job is lengthening into years. Perhaps it will be finished some day.

In the vicinity of Huntington lake a private corporation is driving a tunnel through a granite mountain. Had similar energy been displayed in relation to the comparatively trivial bore at Second street the latter would have been ready for use thirty days after the breaking of the ground. Now another private corporation is to drive a tunnel from the heart of Los Angeles for accommodation of rail traffic. The suggestion is that it make haste. While the tunnel is of many times the magnitude of the prospective one at Second street, the corporation is more likely than not to build it in a small fraction of the time devoted to the project mentioned.

The tendency, particularly of large cities, to permit contractors to have their own way, has been noted many times. It came into notice first in New York in the days of Tweed, and seems to have prevailed ever since. There is not the slightest need for a municipality to submit to imposition, and yet the submission is habitual. A city will endure treatment that an individual employer or a business group could not be induced to tolerate. That an obligation assumed towards a city means nothing but what the party of the other part desires it to mean, has been shown times without number, a circumstance not speaking well for the abililty that is supposed to direct city affairs, and to conserve the public interests.

TOO SILLY FOR LIBEL

A cartoon that save for its inherent foolishness would be libelous, bears the caption "Christmas is Coming." It portrays the nations of Europe in bed dreaming of the presents they expect to have from the United States, Uncle Sam appearing in the guise of a Santa Claus with Charles E. Hughes whiskers.

Nobody knows, or has reason to suspect, that there is any basis for this pictured insinuation. That Europe expects to receive all sorts of benefactions from the country, that it is deliberately planning a raid on its resources, has been affirmed many times. The affirmation has come invariably from such sources as to stamp it at once as silly propaganda. There are men who seek to keep alive the spirit of animosity among the allies, and who try to promote discord hetween this country and the whole group on the other side.

Doubtless if there is a showing that children are starving in Germany the need will be met in large part by American donations. Help never has been withheld, but has been sent freely even to Russia, an oligarchy not recognized as a government. The only way in which aid could be proffered to European governments as such, would be through cancellation of debts, a course of which there is not the slightest probability. If in the matter of trade, credits be extended to foreign manufacturers and shippers, this would not be a donation at all, but a business transaction in behalf of mutual interests.

The United States would be glad to see Europe normal again, and once more prosperous. There is no intention of making it so by gift. The dealings will be with self-respecting individuals, and not with the idea of pauperizing them by making them objects of charity.

CONTINUANCE OF CRIME

Daily there is added evidence that between society and the underworld there is war to the finish. Police forces are being reorganized and enlarged, citizens are combining to assist in the prevention of crime, and still the list of deeds of violence grows. The burglar roams by night, the highway is infested by bandits, thieves are prowling the streets, business institutions are held up. Doubtless the measures taken to prevent the activities of thugs, have to some extent been effective. In the absence of such measures, it is easy to imagine the underworld as triumphant instead of merely aggressive.

The robbery of a Pacific Electric train between Los Angeles and Pasadena has, at this writing, been the latest exhibition of outlawry on a spectacular scale. The perpetrators were armed with deadly weapons. Each was on the spot as a potential assassin. All if caught, deserve to be sent to prison for life, and not for a brief stay to be terminated at the pleasure of the kindly gentlemen who pass out paroles on request.

There is nothing new to be said concerning the situation. The truth may be repeated that the way to stop crime is to punish the criminal. In the past this formality has been neglected, thanks to the quiet submission of courts to the wiles of the trick lawyer; thanks also to the parole gentlemen just mentioned. The reform in procedure has begun. It has not been in progress long enough to impress the undesirables against whom it is directed. If the courts keep up their present alertness and severity, the situation is bound to change, provided the bestowal of paroles be curbed. Once convince the criminal that the statutes are to be used to the utmost in penalizing him, and he will lose his present insolent defiance.

ZANGWILL MAKES A FEW REMARKS

When a speaker comes from abroad to address Americans he is likely to go to an extreme. Either he extols the country and the nation to a point that brings his sincerity into question, or he assumes a superior air, and gives his adverse critical views as the utterance of final wisdom. Israel Zangwill chose the latter course. He made the serious charge that Americans lack a sense of humor. It is possible they lack the sense that to Zangwill appears to be humor. Nevertheless, to Zangwill, he is a serious unit in the affairs of the world, while to Americans he is a joke. They fail to grasp the idea that an alien of whatever class, visiting this land for a few fleeting hours, becomes competent to indict, arraign and convict the new world of all the crimes of which he may fancy it guilty.

One part of his attack was made justifiable by the facts. When he said of Americans "You lit through Wilson a great light of hope in Europe and then blew it out," the impulse to respond that he errs is checked. Scrutiny of the circumstances leads to the finding that they sustain him. The League of Nations, now functioning with a membership of fifty-four, was an American suggestion. Because of this it was entered into by the peoples of South America. And then the United States, through a senate that had to stultify itself to take such a course, rejected the proposal that had been the spontaneous product of popular sentiment. This was a blowing out of the light.

Zangwill regards the world war as not having been fought to end war but to end peace, not to sustain democracy but to finish it. This had been its effect, he said, in Italy and Spain. That either of these had been democracies before the rise of dictators will be a surprise to the general reader, who indeed, may decline to believe it.

Zangwill is a thinker along certain lines. He has a right to his opinions, and to free expression of them.

THE JUDGE AND THE SPEEDER

By ESTELLE LAWTON LINDSEY

Everybody wants to get rid of the speeder, but so far Judge Cox of Santa Ana is the only jurist who has succeeded in taming the brute.

Estelle Lawton Lindsey

They don't speed in Santa Ana. It's a treat to watch the immediate slowing down of high power cars as they cross the Santa Ana line. In the beginning nobody thought Judge Cox would send speeders to jail, but he did and for a time jail terms served a number of publicity-hungry folk with an overdose of their favorite diet.

But going to jail lacks interest after the novelty has worn thin and by and by the speeders stopped speeding—in Santa Ana, and they quit violating other traffic laws.

For a time Los Angeles took a turn at sending them to jail and the streets became fairly safe.

But they're at it again and some of us who resent having to jump too often would like drastic action. That is why I was so touched by the suggestion of a Washington judge. A new idea always intrigues me; and that judge's idea was so new it smelled of leather. You get the idea.

Here is what he wants done; but before we can do it somebody will have to pass a law or city councils will have to starch up their courage and pass an ordinance after lines suggested by Hizzonnah for the curbing of speed in the interest of public safety.

The suggestion was that anybody who once has been guilty of a serious infraction of traffic regulations should have some kind of sign, say a big black cross, painted on his automobile as a warning to the public that the person driving that car is a menace to safety.

Incidentally the cross would also be a sign to the police to keep both eyes on the marked machine.

All of which is fine and constructive. But here are a few amendments to the suggestion of Hizzonnah, and I offer them as my humble contribution to the solution of a vexed problem.

For the first serious infraction of a traffic law, let the punishment be an order to paint the car red, the color of fire cars. This would be a sign that the driver was a danger.

For a second infraction let the color be changed to yellow, a sign that the car owner was a poor citizen, a bully and a bit of a sneak.

For the third let the car be painted white with a skull and cross bones on back, front and sides as a token that the approach of such a car was the harbinger of death.

If a car owner who had been so punished went out in another car than his own, he might be sent to jail just as if he had jumped bail or broken probation.

We can cure this indiscriminate slaughter of pedestrian population if we use brains and courage plus imagination.

Let's try it.

WATCHING THE PARADE

By JOHN PILGRIM

When I first began to go to the little Spanish restaurant to get that something different which my palate demands from time to time, two kids were pinch waiters in the establishment. Nice, bright-eyed, slender, erect little fellows, with soft, smooth brown cheeks.

At first they carried away the used dishes. By and by one became a regular waiter. The other disappeared. Last night I went back to the little Spanish restaurant. My friend the ex-kid came forward to meet me. He is head waiter now.

"I am very glad to see you again," he said, in a careful, slow, correct English that bore hardly a trace of a foreign accent. He speaks Italian, he said, like a native, and can talk enough French to get by. He had picked up Italian when he came here from Spain, because he was so homesick.

"I had to talk with some one," he said, carefully avoiding the pitfalls of our excellent language. "And there were very many Italians where I worked."

His friend had gone back to Spain after four months. He could not learn enough English. Americans laugh a good deal, said the head-waiter, and his friend thought they might be laughing at him. Or feared they might be. He became self-conscious and unhappy, and his efforts to learn English were hampered by that fact. He taught himself to read and write—in four months—which is a proof that he was not a fool, but he stammered and goggled when he tried to speak. So he went back to Spain where he will probably live and die a poor, unsuccessful, commonplace waiter. The kid who stayed hopes to have his own restaurant before long.

"Now that I understand English," he said, still steering slowly around the linguistic reefs, "I know that Americans were not laughing at us. They were not thinking about us at all. But it was a great pain—an agony—sometimes, to try to talk this strange tongue. We were afraid."

Sometimes, said the head-waiter, thoughtfully, it is better to bear today's unhappiness to provide a better tomorrow.

THE LISTENING POST

By James W. Foley

JAMES W. FOLEY

Somebody says that now comes the season of sentiment.

Thanksgiving and Christmas.

A period of friendliness.

Kindness.

Faith and hope and charity.

* * *

Of course there should be no season of sentiment.

Sentiment should rule all through the year.

From the first day of January till the thirty-first day of December.

For sentiment is the thing upon which a Christian civilization ought to rest.

* * *

Not upon a season of sentiment.

A few too short weeks.

When we may wrap up sentiment and carry some of it home in a bag.

Sentiment should survive through the year.

The sentiments of tenderness and affection.

* * *

It is better that we have a season of sentiment than that we have no sentiment at all.

For a year of no sentiment at all would be barren and hopeless.

We should all be preying on each other like wild animals.

Permitting no tenderness to hallow our associations.

* * *

But the spirit that is shown at Thanksgiving and Christmas should pervade the year.

Why should there be any time when we are not generous?

When we are not thoughtful?

When we are not kind?

When we are not helpful?

* * *

Are we not a people professing all those things?

Do we not recognize their truth?

Are they not the foundation stones of the faith we hold?

Faith and hope and charity and friendliness and affection and generosity and forgiveness and all the virtues of the spirit?

* * *

If we profess a belief why do we not always practice it?

Is it because it is not financially expedient?

Is it because it is not socially practicable?

Is it because it involves too much of effort?

Of self denial?

Or sacrifice?

* * *

The world in which we live was builded upon those things.

The religion we profess is based upon those things.

The country we have survives because of those things.

The flag that floats over us is the symbol of love and affection and denial and sacrifice and generosity.

* * *

So let us have a season of sentiment to cover all of the year.

No need without aid.

No tear without comfort.

No greeting without friendliness.

No transaction without honor.

Songs of the Poets

Invictus—By William Ernest Henley

Out of the night that covers me,
Black as the pit from pole to pole,
I thank whatever gods may be
For my unconquerable soul.

In the fell clutch of circumstance
I have not winced nor cried aloud.
Under the bludgeonings of chance
My head is bloody, but unbow'd.

Beyond this place of wrath and tears
Looms but the Horror of the shade,
And yet the menace of the years
Finds and shall find me unfraid.

It matters not how strait the gate,
How charged with punishments the scroll,
I am the master of my fate:
I am the captain of my soul.

WHAT CHANCE HAVE YOU?

By JOHN CARLYLE

CALVIN COOLIDGE, when he was a boy, was so timid that he wanted to hide when strangers came to his home. He didn't have nerve enough to meet them and to shake hands.

But he had nerve enough to set out to overcome his diffidence. Since those days Calvin Coolidge has been a candidate for public office fourteen times. He has been elected every time.

Rockefeller, at sixteen, had to give up high school and take to the streets in search of a job. He found one that paid him fifty dollars every three months. Next year he did better. He got three hundred dollars for a year's work, and paid his own bills. Fifty years ago he started the Standard Oil company. Today he does more good to humanity with more money than any other American. Rockefeller WORKED.

Henry Ford, working at a night job for small pay, was laughed at as a freakish inventor. He had one thing that so many folks lack. He had the kind of courage and independence that keep a man plugging, despite what people say. Most of us are more afraid of what people say than of anything else on earth.

When Tom Edison was a little fellow his teacher thought he was so rattle-brained that it wouldn't be worth while to keep him in school. He was a railroad newsboy at fourteen. But Edison had a main idea. He wanted to be an inventor. Whatever the temptation, he wouldn't give up the main idea. His life-story is half the scientific history of the last half century. How many of us have a MAIN IDEA that we are going to stick to?

Roosevelt, nervous, near-sighted, in bad health, got a slow start in life. He had much to overcome. But Roosevelt had an indomitable soul. He set out to be a big man, powerful in the counsels of his country, and he let nothing turn him aside. Today his name belongs in the triumphal trilogy of America. The world links Roosevelt with Washington and Lincoln.

Are YOU complaining, are you hanging back because you think you lack opportunity, because you have accepted the idea that you have no chance?

Think and investigate, and you will find that the outstanding figures in American life are the men and women who have waded through heavy roads, who have kept on in the face of discomfort, in the face of discouragement and pain. They are those who have OVERCOME.

EASTERN POINT OF VIEW

THAT LITTLE BROWN HEN

[Cincinnati Enquirer]

The political and economic atmosphere is stirred and confused by the threatening utilization of the wheat farmers, who are demanding price-fixing and all sorts of formulae designed to encourage, protect and stabilize their business. The eye of Washington is on this troublesome problem, its ear attuned to hear the agrarian songs of pessimism, and it is making heroic effort to find some remedy for the trouble.

In the meantime the little brown hen and her sisters, millions and millions of them, are doing duty at the same old nests.

Perhaps we soon may hear Macedonian cries from the bosses of the little brown hens—they may want the prices of eggs fixed by the government, or may want the government to buy up the egg crop and dispose of it. Why not?

In the last year the little brown hen contributed to the national exchequer more than a billion dollars, exceeding the value of the wheat crop. That's some respectable record. A billion dollars is a billion dollars. The little brown hen annually is paying in as much as we are paying out for tobacco, and she doesn't kick about it, though, doubtless, she does a good deal of scratching.

Science, religion, history are back of the little brown hen. The egg is the most ancient symbol of eternity; out of the egg proceeds all organic life; Columbus proved his point by making an egg stand on end.

Obviously there is money in eggs. The little brown hen is steady and reliable; and if Uncle Sam is going deeply into the protection business, we bespeak for this modest and industrious servant a due amount of paternal consideration.

It is well enough to arrest drivers after traffic accidents, but it would be better to enforce the law so as to prevent many accidents.

COMMENT ON DAY'S NEWS

By HENRY JAMES

According to a handwriting expert, the writing of a child foretells its future. A singular thing about the assertion is that the man making it seems to believe it.

HENRY JAMES

Character is betrayed in handwriting just as it is in many personal habits. Something may be told of a man by the fact that he wears clean linen, or neglects to shine his shoes. A man who wrote a careless hand, with misspelled words, and many blots, certainly would be giving himself away as a slouch. But the chirography could bear no relation to his honesty, his acquisitiveness, or lack of it.

Many who once wrote legibly find on the rare occasions when they use a pen now, that they are no longer able to do so. The typewriter, either because they have used it, or have dictated to a user of it, has spoiled them in this respect, but it has not altered their characters in even the smallest degree.

"When is a kiss a sin?"

The question is asked here not with the idea of eliciting an answer. Any reader of intelligence perceives at once that it is not worth answering It is reportorial babble. It is not a subject that lends itself in any way to public discussion. The person who asks it in order to print a reply, must do so under compulsion, and with a conscious blush. Either that, or under the hat of the person indicated, there is nothing but an ivory dome vacant or filled with mush.

To write columns concerning the practice of kissing, to request ladies and gentlemen to exploit their views, the views having no value even if given, is not a course exalting the calling of journalism. A paper should print the news. It is justifiable in printing opinion concernng subjects meriting such dignified treatment. When it sends a reporter around with the senseless interrogatory "when is a kiss a sin?" it is not sensational but flatly silly.

There is a real question that might be substituted thus:

"When is it proper to throw a Polly Pry reporter out of the office?"

It is not possible to withhold sympathy from Captain Watson, upon whom doubtless will fall responsibility for the recent naval disaster with its loss of more than a score of lives. This is not that the public would shield him from such penalty as may be named, but that the virtual end of a career followed with honor and distinction is a saddening spectacle.

OUR CHILDREN

By ANGELO PATRI

THE BACKSLIDER

Just when you think you have a child trained to a habit he backslides. Isn't that the most annoying thing in the world? Almost. Why does that happen? Why can't he go straight ahead and do what you have trained him for years to do without breaking?

Just because the thing you are trying to teach him to do didn't come naturally to him and he had to take a long time to form the habit.

"What? Take him more than fourteen years to learn that he is to have a bath before getting into bed each evening?"

Why not? Bathing every night isn't a race habit you know. We haven't had bath tubs so very long. It is only a generation ago that a bath tub became a necessity. In fact you know that it isn't a necessity in some places yet. And boys do not like to wash themselves so often. Of course, it will take a long time to teach them that.

It takes a long time to teach children to form a habit of any kind. That is the teaching that helps them to remember that they may forget.

When that happens, when the point has been driven in so deep that the conscious mind may turn it over to the unconscious mind and think of it no more, assured that it will be done without thought, you have completed a lifetime job.

Before that happens, though, the child will have his times of backsliding. He will go on for a while and then break. You will get after him again and he will go along for another period with a little less supervision and a longer period of carrying-on. But again and again he will backslide. What will you do about it?

Growing a habit of any kind is like pulling a load up-hill. At each little rise the horse halts and the driver gets out and firmly blocks the wheels so that the load will not slide back and carry the horse with it.

Just before he climbs the last rise, just before going over the brow of the hill, the horse is allowed to halt longer than usual. He must gather strength for the last stiff climb.

The adolescent is on the last rise of the hill of routine habits, neatness and order and punctuality and truthfulness and industry. He is tired and panting after his stiff climb. The load was heavy and the hill stiffer than you remember.

If then he seems to stop and backslide and balk a bit, just climb out, speak to him cheerily and block the wheels. Give him a chance to get his second wind and gather himself for the last pull to the top.

Before him lies a new road. Its ascent is broken by many a rise ani many a sudden drop. It has its end far off in the blue. Even your experienced eye cannot see where it leads. Steady him, speak gently to him, block the wheels and hold him on the height before he starts away from you forever.
